Time runs out on Sands motel project

By NANCY HILLS

THE CARMEL Sands Lodge demolition and rebuilding project is back on the Carmel City Council agenda, in this case because the sands of time have run out.

The project, which began the permit process back in 1985, received its design review approval in 1987, but it never received its demolition or building permit.

The deadline was up on April 23. The owners did not meet a city ordinance that gives a project 18 months, then an automatic 18-month extension, to obtain vested interest in a project, such as a demolition permit.

The plans, which include the demolition of the old and rebuilding of a new motel with the same square footage at the northeast corner of Fifth Avenue and San Carlos Street, no longer meet code.

Matthew Little has appealed to the city council a planning department decision not to reissue a permit for the project because it does not meet the criteria for an automatic extension. According to the code, to qualify for an extension a project must meet current code.

The council will discuss this item, among others, at its 4 p.m. Tuesday, June 5 meeting at city hall. Because of the length of the agenda, the council will conduct two meetings that week, another on Thursday, June 7.

The Sands project has been controversial since its beginning in 1985, primarily because the Little family asked that they be allowed to tear down the existing 42-room motel and completely rebuild with the same number of rooms and the same amount of floor space. The number of rooms, however, was greater than allowed by code, which at that time permitted only one motel room per 1,000 square feet of land.

The motel includes a restaurant, bar and offices, which were added to the project and the permit in 1986. The rebuilding will include the 120-seat restaurant and bar.

At the time of the first application, the planning commission and city council debated whether the project should be reviewed as a remodel and not have to meet existing codes. To meet the code then, it would have to drastically reduce the number of rooms.

In order to get the project through the city, the Littles dropped their plans for new office space in 1985. However, in 1986 the new city council approved the Littles' request to add office space.

CARMEL PLANNING Director Diane White explained that the project received its permit in 1986 and design study approval in 1987. It also later received its Coastal Commission permit, but time on that has also expired.

The code permits one automatic extension of 18 months, which the Littles received, but the third extension can be granted by the planning commission only if the project meets current codes. Since the original permit was issued, the city council and planning commission has revised the square footage and second-story coverage allowed in the commercial district.

"This project, in almost every way, does not meet those codes," White said.

Fallen giant

CREWS HAD their work cut out for them May 27th when this huge pine tree toppled over, blocking 13th Street in Carmel after heavy rains that day softened the ground around the base and roots of the tree. The tree was located on 13th between San Antonio and Carmelo. Although the rain was heavy enough to topple trees it wasn't enough to put much of a dent in the area's dwindling water supply. Very few problems were reported elsewhere in the city. (Craig Hamilton photo.)

White said that the Littles brought their plans in for plan check in November 1989, but there were a number of conditions imposed by the council and the commission the project had to meet before the final permits would be granted.

"They did not get around to answer any of those concerns until March," she said.

Some of the conditions were still outstanding in April, she said, when the time had run out.

Matt Little did not return The Carmel Pine Cone calls before press time.

In other business, the council will consider the general plan changes recommended by the planning commission for the R-1 district.

The changes include a sliding scale for maximum floor area on lots larger than 4,000 square feet.

The sliding scale ranges from 45 percent maximum floor area and 55 percent maximum coverage at 4,000 square feet, with a minimum of 45 percent open space, to a 12,500 square foot lot, 28 percent allowed floor area ratio, 38 percent maximum site coverage and 62 percent mandatory open space.

A 5,000-square-foot lot is allowed 43 percent floor area ratio, 55 percent maximum coverage and 47 percent minimum open space. A 6,000-square-foot lot is permitted 51 percent site coverage and mandatory minimum of 49 percent open space. An 8,000-square-foot lot has 37 percent maximum floor area ratio, 47 percent maximum percent site coverage and 53 percent open space.

Open space is now defined as landscapable land, not covered by hardscape of impermeable surfaces.

Time is running down on moving of Carmel's first Murphy house

By NANCY HILLS

THE FIRST Murphy house saga continues as the clock ticks on toward its demolition.

The Save the First Murphy group has until the July council meeting to move the house from the property of Stella and Joseph Biason on Mission Street.

The Murphy house move is just one of the items on the city council agenda scheduled for 4 p.m. Thursday, June 7 in city council chambers, the second meeting in the same week for the council.

The regular meeting was divided in to two sessions because of the number of appeals and other issues on the council agenda. The first meeting is scheduled for 4 p.m. Tuesday, June 5 in city council chambers at city hall.

The council will face two issues in regard to the Murphy house. It will first receive a status report from the Save the First Murphy Group on its fund-raising efforts and then to decide if the council will "assume jurisdiction of the project" from the planning commission.

The Carmel Planning Commission was asked at its May 23 meeting to review the relocation procedures and conduct a site design review. The commission continued any decision on relocating the small house to a city-owned lot near the corner of Lincoln Street and Sixth Avenue because its members felt that they did not have enough information about the future use of the project. They also expressed concern about parking spaces that will be lost after such a move. Commissioner Terry Thomas cast the dissenting vote.

Additionally, chairwoman Carla Ramsey stated she believed that the project requires a

'It will be tight to raise it by June 7, but I think it can be done.'

— Enid Sales said
— Save the First Murphy

California Environmental Quality Act review. Planning Director Diane White explained that single-family residences and buildings with an occupancy of 30 or less people are exempt from that review.

If the council does not take action, the city's permission to move the house will come after the deadline to remove it from the Biason's property.

The council has determined that the group's efforts to raise the money and move the house must not impede the Biason's application for a new building at the current location of the house, Mission Street between Fifth and Sixth avenues.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters to the editor are welcome. Views on all matters are acceptable, following the guidelines of good taste. While there is no limit on length, brevity is encouraged. Hard to replace

Dear Editor:

I was saddened by the article in the May 10th Pine Cone regarding the resignation of Fred Keeble from the Carmel-by-the-Sea planning commission. His reason, as given in his letter of resignation, came as no surprise.

As a resident of Carmel-by-the-Sea for over 40 years and a member of the planning commission for over 22 years, Mr. Keeble has seen the many changes this community has gone through and is fully aware of the many problems in the past and future. He has contributed much time in fulfilling his responsibilities as a commissioner. He will be difficult to replace.

Carmel residents who attend the planning commission meetings recognize the importance of having someone with Mr. Keeble's background, experience and dedication.

From this writer's viewpoint an estimated minimum commitment of one working day a week is necessary if the job of a planning commissioner is to be accomplished with responsibility.

Our Mayor Jean Grace no doubt has many applications on file to fill various commission vacancies as they occur, however, in selecting replacements for the planning commission consideration should be limited to those who have the ability and time to devote to research, study, knowledge and background of the community.

Thank you, Fred Keeble for assuming the responsibility and giving of your time and effort in making a dedicated contribution for more than half the years which you have resided in Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Your shoes will be hard to fill.

Greed took over

Dear Editor:

I read a letter from Peter Davey of San Francisco "Missed opportunity" and I second his letter.

I too lived in Carmel and loved it dearly until greed took over and ruined everything. I have been back every year — just homesick for Carmel. But every year I get more and more disappointed. Business is declining because of prices no one can pay — they are killing the goose that laid the golden egg — not even realizing it! They are committing suicide eventually. More people are leaving the area because of high prices and Carmel becoming more and more just "Anytown USA."

I have seen the same thing in Europe where I was born. Austria used to be beautiful — the people friendly. Greed took over, the natives raised prices, until finally the tourist numbers have declined. They also committed suicide business-wise. Ruined nature and bitter people are left, because not many people are willing to visit their country now.

Why is it, no one ever thinks of the future — only their bank accounts?

I doubt I will return next year — I would like to remember Carmel as a special place — not as a tourist trap.

Unnecessary spraying

Dear Editor:

As I was walking down a busy Carmel street in front of a friend's house, I noticed some city workers spraying an herbicide on some shrubs. In calling up the City Forester's office, I found out that they were spraying the herbicide, Roundup (glyphosate) to get rid of unwanted shrubs.

It was explained to me that the city doesn't spray herbicides often, and only does so when it is more economically feasible than mechanical elimination of unwanted plants.

I called up a number of consumer organizations dealing with herbicides and they all recommended against the use of Roundup. I was told that Roundup is a Class C carcinogen, and that no amount of a carcinogen is safe. And according to the National Coalition Against the Misuse of Pesticides, it's just as cost effective to remove unwanted plants species mechanically as it is with Roundup.

I am upset that this carcinogenic substance is being sprayed in front of my friends' homes. Once, when my mother contacted Roundup, she became ill and developed a serious rash.

Later, I returned to the same spot and found many new shrubs, some 3 feet high. I pulled up some of these unwanted shrubs very easily, which shows that the city doesn't need to use Roundup at this spot. Even where there are entire hillsides covered with unwanted non-native plants, such as in Mission Trails Park, I believe the city still doesn't need to spray with Roundup, even if other means of removal are more expensive. Carmel is a wealthy city and can afford to remove unwanted plants without the use of herbicides.

Supports freeway

Dear Editor:

My wife and I wish to encourage you to support the development of the Hatton Canyon Freeway and to oppose the widening of Highway 1! Obviously, something has to be done to alleviate the traffic problem; incredibly, a plan was submitted 34 years ago to address it and still "we" sit on our hands...

Inasmuch as we will need six lanes to handle the traffic, why not construct four lanes in the canyon to go along with the two that we already have on Highway 1! The impact in the canyon and Highway 1 will be minimized. Concentrating all of the traffic on Highway 1 by widening it will surely be devastating for Carmel as we know it!

We live in the Carmel Highlands and on some weekends it has taken us over an hour to drive to town, which we can usually do in 10 to 15 minutes! I shudder to think what would happen if my wife or I ever had to go to the hospital in an emergency!

Thank you for your consideration of our suggestions.

Murphy relocation

Dear Editor:

As a member of the "First Murphy" steering committee, I would like to ask the residents of Carmel for support in this project.

When the concept of saving the small frame building behind the former Emil Norman Gallery on Mission was first proposed, many thought the idea ridiculous and the building worthless. Since that time (a) this little house has been designated Carmel's first historic structure, (b) the city council has shown an extra measure of support for saving the "First Murphy" by offering city lots for its relocation, and (c) the people of Carmel have gotten out and shown energy and support for this project and for expanding Carmel preservation efforts.

What the "First Murphy" needs now is money. An aggressive campaign is underway this week to gather the dollars needed to move the building. If you support this effort, please contact Enid Sales at 625-0566 to make your contribution. If we don't raise the money and move the "first Murphy" by the first week of July, this historic structure — and a great preservation effort — will be lost forever.

Necessary freeway

Dear Editor:

Traffic going to the Carmel area once had to drive through Monterey. What would Monterey be now if a four-lane freeway and a four-lane road had not been built to get the autos off of city streets? Gridlock.

Would anyone deny the necessity of that freeway?

Those lanes now funnel cars on to the Carmel side of the hill. We can't build a Berlin Wall as a solution, so the skilled engineers studied the need, and a four-lane road in Hatton Canyon has become the answer for both the short and long term.

If two lanes on Highway 1 were to be widened to four (a million-to-one bet), we would still be short two lanes to handle the fast build-up of traffic.

After we squabble and lose the federal funds, and the state must by law dispose of the canyon property, only two lanes on Highway 1 and the streets through Carmel remain as the worst possible solution.

Needed reform

Dear Editor:

Crime is a menace in our lives and must be dealt with concisely, prudently, conscientiously and bravely.

If our society is to clean up the environment and become waste-wise, biodegradable-wise, pure air-wise, clean air-wise, endangered species-wise, then it is time to become human resource-wise and deal directly with criminal activity.

Jails and prisons are a high priority goal. We need additional space to house felons, but we also need voters and taxpayers to help

Builders, preservers join to save pieces of history

By NANCY HILLS

ON THE corner of Santa Rita Street and Third Avenue once stood the house that Charles built.

Charles Sayers was a master carver, one of a breed of craftsmen and women who came to Carmel in the 1930s, drawn by Carmel's artist colony, the beauty of the area and a castle for William Randolph Hearst under construction at San Simeon.

'If the house couldn't be saved, at least pieces of it will live on. That is the best thing that can happen in such a circumstance.'

— Roger Newell

Sayers was native of Scotland and found the windswept, rough coastline of Carmel a poignant reminder of his home. After a business trip to the California coast, he stayed and in 1930 literally made his home in Carmel.

It was definitely a woodcarver's house and Sayers left his mark in every niche and outcropping. He put scroll work on the dark beams, a different scene on each bathroom door; he carved the garage doors, carved the mantels, carved pieces of rock in the stone chimney.

Sayers was and is well-known in his field, and the front door he carved for the house is depicted in many books on woodcarving.

Another famous Carmel craftsman of the time and a good friend of Sayers, blacksmith and ironworker Francis Whittaker, put his touches in the house with his wrought iron chandeliers and wall sconces.

Architect Julia Morgan, the architect for Hearst Castle, is thought to have designed the tiles that went up the stairs of a guest house on the double lot.

Sayers and his wife, Cecily, sold the house in 1945 to Julian and Dorothy von Meier, and over the years it became known as the von Meier house.

Julian died a year after they purchased the home, but Dorothy von Meier loved Carmel and stayed there to raise her three children. She was a preeminent Carmelite, spending many years on the planning commission, working with the local Red Cross and in politics throughout the peninsula.

"I think you could say it was the quintessential Carmel experience," said Katherine McKenney, one of the von Meier children, about living there with her artistic and active mother. "It was a very special house and my mother gave a certain look to the home — not new, but lived in and eclectic, unpretentious."

The home was featured in many magazines and newspapers over the years and Mrs. von Meier was often interrupted by Sayers' students who would make pilgrimages to the home.

McKenney explained that many of craftspeople in Carmel in the 1930s had been attracted by Julia Morgan and the work at San Simeon.

McKenney was 12 years old when they moved into the home and had met Sayers. She remembers him as a "definitely rough-hewn kind of guy," and both Sayers and Whitaker as "men of independence and physical strength — unique, committed, involved and opinionated."

Von Meier stayed in the home until her death in October last year, and her children, each with their own lives, reluctantly put the house on the market.

Time had taken its toll on the structure, which did not have foundation. Fred and Sharon Slabaugh bought the house on the condition that it could be torn down.

And down it came, but piece by piece. The Slabaughs hired master carpenter Charles Illg to take the house apart bit by bit, saving Sayers' and Whittaker's work as he progressed.

"It is really too bad it couldn't be saved,"

'Once a Barracuda, always a Barracuda' says its coach

By SUSAN BECK

DIANA WHITESIDES never thought about coaching for the Barracudas in the nine years that she competed for the team — she wanted to be a lifeguard.

'It's a great outlet for energy, especially for middle to high school kids. It keeps them away from the street, the drugs, sex and rock and roll.'

— Diana Whitesides

She started swimming for the Barracudas when she was 7 under the near-legendary Carmel High School swim coach, Bob Walthour, who succeeded in helming more than 100 consecutive wins in high school girls swimming.

Now, Whitesides is the swim club's head coach and says, "Once a Barracuda, always a Barracuda."

She has been associated with the Barracudas, the oldest continuously operated swim club in Monterey County, for about 30 years. After receiving her degree in environmental studies from the University of California in Santa Cruz, she returned to the peninsula and earned a certificate as a water safety instructor.

It wasn't long before she became a lifeguard and swim instructor at the Carmel High School pool. In 1974 she assisted coach Larry Challis. Three years later she moved to Hawaii and worked odd jobs so that she could compete in the Hawaiian Outrigger Canoe Paddling competitions.

Back on the mainland in 1983, she again assisted coaching for the Barracudas, and then in 1987 she became the head coach.

Whitesides thoroughly enjoys coaching, and says she never dreads going to work. "Every day I'm ready to do it again. Belonging to a team creates a down-home feeling of acceptance. There is a security in that."

Even though the Barracudas won more championships than any other team in the Coast Valley Aquatics League (San Benito, Santa Cruz and Monterey counties), during the '80s, her goal is to have an even stronger year-round team, especially junior high and high school children, to take to the zone championship in San Jose next February.

Strength and speed are high priorities, but equally important in the Barracuda philosophy are social interaction and emotional development, a wholesome and worthwhile physical and recreational outlet, and an opportunity to learn sportsmanship and team cooperation, says Whitesides.

Belonging to a team and challenging yourself emotionally and physically develops self-esteem, she says, and anyone can become a Barracuda no matter what economic or ethnic background. "We take everyone, even aggressive floaters."

The swim club basically teaches children from 3 to 18 how to swim. Through the club, which is about evenly divided between 150 boys and girls in the summer and 40 or 50 in the winter, swimmers get a chance to test their emotional and physical stamina.

DIANA WHITESIDES, coach for the Barracuda Aquatics swim club, gets team members ready for a recent competition.

"It's a great outlet for energy, especially for middle to high school kids. It keeps them away from the street, the drugs, sex and rock and roll," says Whitesides.

Whitesides oversees all of the Barracudas activities and plans to continue doing so. In addition, she teaches physical education for the Carmel Unified School District at the grammar school level, and is a swimming instructor for a Red Cross aquatics course. She also hopes to teach a recreational leadership course at Carmel High School next year.

A strong believer that recreation programs teach children self-esteem, she is also an advocate for recreational professionals to be paid a living wage.

"We do an extremely important thing. We provide a really good service for kids and take over some of the child-rearing responsibilities. There is a need to achieve more standing and prestige in the community," says Whitesides.

Despite these shortcomings, she said that being part of the team has been great. It has taught her to not necessarily play it safe. She learned to do what she wanted to do and give it her best shot.

"I found out that there is an enormous amount of support outside of the family. Also, working with children is extremely gratifying. The kids worship you and give adoration, hugs, and kisses. You're a hometown celebrity, and I like it. Kids are so eager. There is no lag time for getting something back."

Saving pieces of Carmel history

but we will save anything of value," Ilg said. "It is a very interesting project, basically completion backwards."

The pieces that were saved, including the front door and Julia Morgan tiles, will go to Carmel Heritage for a fund-raising auction.

The Carmel City Council accepted the gift of the main mantle piece which is carved with running horses.

The Slabaughs asked the advice of the city's architectural preservation committee and Carmel Heritage about the feasibility of saving the house. Enid Sales, a preservation contractor, went through the home but felt it was completely unrealistic to try to save the structure. Sayers, unfortunately, was a master woodcarver, but not a master builder.

"It was a chance for one group, the builders, to work with the other group, the preservationist, to work with the other," Fred Slabaugh said. "The only thing we could do is save what is the best part of the house."

"If the house couldn't be saved, at least pieces of it will live on," said Carmel Heritage president Roger Newell. "That is the best thing that can happen in such a circumstance."

The barn shingles used for siding on the house will be saved in a most unique manner. They will be used for bird houses by a local bird house builder. The builder plans to return one to the property.

"There will be a little von Meier birdhouse on the land," Sharon Slabaugh said.

Still, McKenney, who had hoped the house could be restored, lamented it passing.

"It is definitely the end of an era in Carmel," she said.

Wild land fires confirms fears of fire officials

WILDLAND FIRES the first week of May confirm firefighter's worst fears. The grass and brush covering our local hills are burning with autumn explosiveness.

Robert E. Taylor, Ranger Unit chief of the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection's San Benito-Monterey Ranger Unit, said firefighters will be in for a long hard fire season. "The potential for a conflagration is so great it will be a miracle if we come through the season without any devastating fires," he said.

The need to protect rural homes with the basic 30-foot clearance has never been more paramount, Taylor added. "The fires firefighters face this summer will be fast moving and very hot. Without the defensible space, 30-foot clearance, it will be nearly impossible to protect homes being over run by fire," he said.

"Protect your valuables, clear flammable vegetation for 30 feet from the house. Clear more if you are able, every extra foot beyond 30 is good insurance. Limb trees within the cleared space to 10 feet off the ground. Keep roofs clear of pine needles and dead leaves. Chimneys must have a one-half-inch mesh screen on top and no tree limbs within 10 feet of the opening. Wood shake shingles should be treated with a fire proofing compound. A relative small investment when compared to the value of a home."

The 30-foot cleared area does not need to be bare ground, Taylor said. It can be landscaped with fire resistive ground covers. Lawns, ice plant, ivy, African Daisy, honey suckle and periwinkle are examples. Toyon, Star Jasmine, Oleander and Carmel Creeper are some fire-resistive shrubs. There are also fire-resistive trees, such as Carob, California Pepper and African Suman. For the complete list consult your local nurseryman. With a little planning a fire resistive landscape can be very attractive while providing that critical defensible space.

He's biking cross country to help cancer victims

By DAVID LELAND

UNDAUNTED BY the theft of his belongings in New York City, an English bicyclist suffering from lung cancer continued his cross-country crusade this week in the name of medical research.

If anything, the theft of $2,000 worth of saddlebags and tools at La Guardia Airport served to renew Kevin Bowthorpe's efforts.

"I'm not going to give up," said Bowthorpe, 37, in Carmel to fetch a book of matches from the Hog's Breath Inn, which will bring about $400 from backers in England. "A lot of people say when you get cancer you give up, but not me."

Originally, Bowthorpe anticipated that it would take him three months to pedal across country, ending up at the White House, where President George Bush has indicated that a brief meeting is possible.

But after the theft of his belongings, Bowthorpe said the trip might take as long as five months. If funds run short, he said he will even sell his bike and continue on foot.

"I'll walk; nothing will stop me," he said.

The cyclist, also a former Marine, said that he will utilize every survival technique he learned in the corps.

And while Bowthorpe is prepared to sleep in plastic garbage bags because his sleeping bag was stolen, he draws the line at sacrificing personal hygiene.

Said Bowthorpe, "The only thing I will worry about is I'll need to shave and a shower every so often."

Bowthorpe was diagnosed with lung cancer 18 months ago after working in buildings which contained asbestos, which was slowly crumbling.

"Fifteen years ago no one knew that asbestos was that deadly," said Bowthorpe, who said heat and high altitudes cause him discomfort. "It (being diagnosed) was quite a shock. When I found out I nearly hit the roof."

Currently, Bowthorpe works in car sales and auto mechanics.

For the past several months he has lined up sponsors in England who have pledged money to his success.

Once he completes his trek, Bowthorpe will have raised about $20,000 toward cancer research.

"It's not a lot, but it's better than a smack in the head," he said.

Bowthorpe was firm in his belief that he is not attempting to drum up financial support in this country.

"I don't think it's fair that people should pay out over here," he said.

Judge Burleigh

FOR SUPERIOR COURT

Judge William Burleigh, a Municipal Court Judge for 17 years, is challenging incumbent Superior Court Judge Richard Silver.

"Because," says Judge Burleigh, "I'm greatly disturbed by Judge Silver's decisions."

"In case after case, there's a pattern of sentencing where the punishment doesn't fit the crime. Criminal activity is often dismissed. And Judge Silver's decisions show a consistent pattern of judicial interference with legitimate business, governmental and individual affairs."

"Law abiding citizens have a right to expect protection, respect, and support from the court," Judge Burleigh says.

"Lawbreakers should expect prompt punishment."

For Law. For Justice. For a Change!

SOMETIMES THAT

By Nancy Hills

When it Raynes...

WHETHER IT is judging dogs or selecting merchandise, Derek Rayne is decisive. "It only took me 10 minutes to pick the Kerry blue terrier at Del Monte," he told me. Also: "I look at a line of sweaters or suits and can make a choice immediately."

Rayne was judging best of show at the Del Monte Kennel Club dog show earlier this month when he decided, with no nervousness or hesitation, that there were six good dogs in that climactic competition and one great one: Champion Kerrageen's Hotspur.

He explained: "You don't judge dogs one against the other in a particular competition, and no dog is perfect. You think of all the Kerry blues you have ever judged and consider how this one rates in comparison with them and against the standard for that breed. It's more difficult for newer judges who may not have those memories of great dogs in the past."

Rayne laughed when he said that he is probably better known in other states and countries as a top dog show judge than he is for being the owner of a fine men's and women's clothing shop. But in Carmel, it may be the other way around, for "Derek Rayne" has been open here since November 1943 — longer than any other business under the same owner. Derek Rayne himself is in the store every day when he is in town.

And that takes us back to dog shows: he averages about 50 shows a year, all over the country and abroad. The ultimate honor is to judge best of show at the Westminster Kennel Club show in New York; Rayne achieved that honor. ("It's once in a lifetime; next to the Kentucky Derby this country's oldest sporting event at 110 years.")

At this most prestigious of shows it also took him only about 10 minutes to make the decision that gave best of show honors to an Afghan hound. He has also judged best of show in Chicago, San Francisco, Beverly Hills, England, Argentina, Tokyo, South Africa, Sweden and other countries. Recently he judged in Windsor, England, where 14,000 dogs competed; he judged all six groups as well as best in show. And he has been invited back to judge next year on the beautiful lawns at Ascot.

Along the way, Derek Rayne has won two very special awards in addition to the obvious honor of being chosen to judge so many different shows. He is the only dog show judge to have won both the Gaines award (1956) and the Kennel Review award (1975) as the best dog show judge of the year in America.

Although much as been made of Derek Rayne's "50th" year as a dog show judge, this is actually his 51st. It all began in San Francisco in January 1939. Or perhaps it really began in England many more years ago when his grandfather bred and showed dogs there. Young Derek went to those shows. In America, he first showed dogs, then became a judge. In 1950 he began to stand out, becoming the youngest all-breed judge in the world. Currently there are only 11 judges qualified by the AKC to judge all breeds, and Rayne is the senior among them.

The most shows he has judged in one year? Sixty-eight! That adds up to more than his customary one each weekend, because it is possible to cover two nearby shows on a single trip. Now 75, he planned to retire last year, but laughing, he said "I guess I haven't quite retired, as I'm booked for 1991 and for two shows in 1992."

Reminiscing, he laughed again when he shared this bit of history with me. "It was the second show I had ever judged, in Boston, in a blizzard. My taxi was late and while I was hurrying to get ready I went to the bathroom and caught my shirt in my zipper. I pulled and pulled, only to have the zipper come out completely. A Swedish judge came to my rescue with safety pins. I was judging Welsh corgis and there was no table to put these little dogs on, so I had to crouch to study each one. I noticed that corner of my shirt popped out when I bent over, so I made like Pavlova, crossing my hands in front of me each time. An elderly woman approached me afterwards; I was sure she was going to take me to task for my odd behavior.

JUST SAY 'NO' TO BUD COOK

DEPUTY SHERIFF'S ASSOCIATION OF MONTEREY COUNTY

P.O. BOX 345
SALINAS, CALIFORNIA 93902

TO THE VOTERS OF MONTEREY COUNTY

The Deputy Sheriff's Association of Monterey County wants you to know that WE DO NOT SUPPORT BUD COOK in his attempt to get re-elected. Never before in the history of our county has a Sheriff failed to win the support of his deputies.

WHY?

Sheriff Cook is more concerned with his image than doing a good job.

Norm Hicks is concerned with doing a good job.

Sheriff Cook has surrounded himself with a personal staff, isolating him from the real world.

Norm Hicks will work with the deputy sheriffs.

Sheriff Cook has consistently backed poor staff decisions, resulting in grievances and law suits.

Norm Hicks will make good decisions.

Sheriff Cook has given more badges to his friends than there are real deputies in the department. A few of these people have donated time and money, but this should not buy anyone a badge. Three deputies have lost their lives defending our badge.

Norm Hicks will not prostitute our badge.

Sheriff Cook explains our lack of support as being a case of a few deputies who do not like some of the decisions he has made as Sheriff.

78% of the deputies voted not to support him!

We want a leader who will give us more than lip service once every four years. We have worked hard to make Monterey County a better place. Now we want a better department.

Ask Sheriff Cook why his own deputies will not support him.

IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE.

This and That

She said: "Young man, you are very graceful for a tall man!" At 6 feet 5 inches he does find it hard to judge the smaller dogs, especially those too heavy to be lifted onto a table. Judging dogs may in fact be hazardous to your health, but Derek Rayne has only been bitten once, "although others have tried and some may have wanted to." It was an English sheepdog which, unknown to Rayne, had an ear canker, and understandably objected to his touching that tender spot. Bloodied on the wrist but unbowed, Rayne went on — cautiously.

He and his wife, Gerda (a native of Germany), have their own corgi, a breed they have often shown successfully, including an award as best of breed at Westminster. The corgi, however is only one of 17 different breeds the Raynes have had in their own home.

Rayne characterized the recent Del Monte show as one of the most successful Pebble Beach shows ever. There were 550 dogs entered, of which Champion Kerrageen's Hotspur was, in his opinion, clearly the best. "It does come down to a matter of opinion," he commented, "and so you are going to be criticized whatever you do." Each of the owners of the other six group winners thinks his or her dog is better, of course; they're like parents at a beauty show for children. Also a dog — even a show dog — is part of the family, so there's an emotional component too.

Here at home, "the store is pretty much a full-time job. When I'm here," Derek Rayne's brother Clive is his partner ("that helps me to get away on weekends"), and Derek is in the Ocean Avenue store nearly every day during the week. "I'll be here as long as I'm able to be," he stated. But there have been changes. "In earlier years, it was about 75 percent local customers and 25 percent tourists," he said. "Now that has about reversed." Reluctantly, he accepts the fact that doing business in Carmel has become more difficult. Why? "Parking, especially in the summer. And we are 'over-stored.' There used to be only two men's shops; now there are at least five or six of every kind of business. The resident population hasn't grown much, so there is much more reliance on tourists. We saw that clearly when there was a gas shortage. We have a different kind of tourist now, too. We used to see the same people every year — they brought their families and stayed a month or so. Now they try to see and do everything in a few days..."

As with his interest in dogs, Derek Rayne's interest in retail merchandise has roots in England, where his family was in that business. Derek himself came to the United States to learn the American retail business, and eventually moved north from Southern California "when I saw Carmel." The Carmel shop has always been a family business, too. Derek Rayne's mother, Doris, was the first manager of the women's clothing side. Now 95, she still lives in Carmel. A Rayne cousin, Vivian Gruchy, has been here almost 40 years and is now the women's shop manager.

Derek Rayne has also passed on some of his special interests to his own family. Smiling, he admitted that he wanted to be a gold pro; "My son is very good." (Fred Rayne is a civil engineer in Jackson, Miss.) "My granddaughter is interested in dogs," he mused, "perhaps once again that interest will skip a generation."

DEREK RAYNE, known to many in Carmel for the men's store that bears his name, is also a world-class dog show judge.

Almost 50 years ago — in the early 1940s — Derek Rayne wrote a column for this newspaper. He called it "Dogma and Doggerel." Would that this elegant, delightful man would take up writing again, with more than 50 years of quality experience behind him, and more still to come.

Carmel Historical Survey YESTERDAY & TODAY Sponsored by Carmel Heritage

By Sharon Lawrence

Thank you, Carmelites!

THANK YOU to the supporters of the "First Murphy," whose words of encouragement and financial contributions, large and small, continue to arrive.

A recent $3,000 donation by a gracious Carmel lady has particularly warmed the hearts of the Murphy steering committee in this race against time. The deadline to raise $15,000 is just a few days away — and more donations are urgently needed! All monies go directly into the moving and re-siting of the historic Mission Street cottage, built in 1902 by Carmel master builder M.J. Murphy. Miscellaneous expenses have been shared by Carmel Heritage and members of the Murphy committee.

The names of all donors will be permanently displayed when the cottage is transformed into a meeting place for locals at its new location on Lincoln Street near Sixth Avenue. YOUR help is needed NOW to save this symbol of Carmel's beginnings from demolition. Checks should be made out to Carmel Heritage/First Murphy and sent to Post Office Box 3959, Carmel-by-the-Sea, Ca. 93921.

Another thank-you goes to the city council and the Murphy committee, appointed by Mayor Jean Grace, who have recently spent long hours discussing and organizing the myriad details in prudently preserving this house.

Thank you, as well, to craftsmen and laborers throughout the peninsula who have offered their services gratis to the restoration of the cottage.

A TWO-DAY training session for volunteers interested in working on the Architectural and Historical Survey of Carmel-by-the-Sea will be held at the Scout House in downtown Carmel on June 23 and 24.

Experts will be present to explain and teach the techniques of surveying more than 3,000 homes and buildings.

"All age groups are invited," comments Enid T. Sales, project coordinator. "We'd love to see local students as well as adults who can contribute five to eight hours a week for three to six weeks this summer or fall. During the past months we've been happy to hear that the survey has enriched the lives of our volunteers, who have already completed the surveying of more than 700 buildings. They enjoy learning rudimentary architectural detail as well as the colorful history associated with many of our buildings. There are a variety of tasks that need to be done. And none of them are boring!"

Potential volunteers should telephone 625-0818 or 625-2566 to enroll in the training sessions.

DR. LINDA Coppens, the helpful, knowledgeable archivist of Harrison Memorial Library's Local History Department, has been named to the board of Carmel Heritage, according to Roger Newell, president. She joins Ann Borden, "Fleece" Dennis, Randolph Elliott, Stan Ewig, Lacy Faia, Ann Grant, Bob Infelise, Richard Hammond, Camilla May, James Moore, Kay Prine, Buzz Schulte and Burney Threadgill on the board.

In June, Carmel Heritage will be announcing a slate of exciting events that should interest all residents — and, for that matter, anyone who loves Carmel. These plans include the grand opening of the Flanders Mansion.

"This is an exciting time for Carmel Heritage," says Roger Newell. "Preserving and giving new life to the only two buildings thus far designated historical — the Flanders mansion and the Murphy cottage. and we have much more to accomplish!"

Carmel Heritage is an education, non-profit, non-political organization, founded in 1983 for the purpose of collecting, preserving and interpreting Carmel's rich history and culture. New members are always welcome. Information on membership may be obtained by telephoning 624-4447.

THANK YOU to a good neighbor, Clint Eastwood, for cherishing the Mission Ranch. Carmel Heritage board members were appreciative of the opportunity to inspect architectural plans and to listen to comprehensive details presented by local builder Alan Williams, supervisor on the project. It is proposed that termite-infested, non-historical cabins on this much-loved property be replaced with architecturally appropriate structures taking up less land, thus enhancing the magnificent views. the wetlands will continue to be protected.

Supervisor seeking applicants for alcohol board

FIFTH DISTRICT Supervisor Karin Strasser Kauffman is inviting applicants to serve on Monterey County's Advisory Board on Alcohol-Related Problems.

This board reviews and evaluates alcoholism program needs, services, and facilities; they review the alcohol program plans and make recommendations to the Alcohol Program Administrator and the board of supervisors.

Interested applicants residing in the 5th District are asked to send a letter stating their desire to serve, including their home address and day-time telephone number, to Strasser Kauffman's office at 1200 Aguajito Road, Suite 006, Monterey.

Cal-Am to install pipe in Rio Road

CALIFORNIA-AMERICAN Water Co. will begin installing a 16-inch water pipe June 1 under Rio Road to 13th Avenue and Mission Street.

The work, which is scheduled to last a week, will require detours around the intersection of Rio Road and Junipero Avenue, said Carmel Public Works Director Jim Cullem.

Cullem said that the work on San Carlos Street will finish early and the street will be open to traffic.

Time running out on first Murphy

The cottage, in the past few years used for commercial storage, was the first house built by M.J. Murphy in Carmel. Murphy was Carmel's most prolific builder and a primary influence in the establishment of Carmel "character."

Enid Sales, head of the Save the First Murphy, told the Carmel Pine Cone that the group has about $10,000 of the $16,000 it needs to pay for moving the house. Recently mailers have gone out to try to raise more funds.

"It will be tight to raise it by June 7, but I think it can be done," Sales said.

The council was advised by the city attorney that all expenses should be paid before the house is placed on the lot or the city risks a lien on its property. The council has asked the First Murphy group to have the funds by June 7.

Sales said that they have tentative plans to move the house on June 28, and it is possible the street will have to be closed to traffic on that day. The house, which is behind another structure, will be lifted by crane over the surrounding buildings.

Mayor Jean Grace said she believes that the council will take action at its June 7 meeting.

"In order to expediate this, we will probably make a decision on the design study. It is just a review on the question of siting and moving the house. I think the council has to do that and the rest is up to the Save the First Murphy group," she said.

Grace added that there were some "inconsistencies" in the general plan which prohibits expansion of public facilities in the R-1 zone. The lot, currently used as a pay parking lot, is zoned R-1.

"We need to talk about that," Grace said.

The council is primarily allowing the First Murphy group to "store" the house on the property until a final decision is made on whether it will stay there or be moved to a different location.

In other business, the council will:

- Accept a bid for city copying. Mail Mart and Copies-by-the-Sea have both submitted bids.

- Consider changing the general plan to reflect the council's decision to support widening Highway 1 rather than Caltrans' Hatton Canyon Freeway design. The council will also consider a resolution that would state the council's stated position that it supports the widening of Highway 1. The council has stated that intent earlier this year.

- Consider two appointments to the planning commission.

- A change in the code to allow the use of gas-powered blowers in town.

- A resolution that will allow a residential parking permit program for Torres Street between Mountain Street and Ninth Avenue and Junipero Avenue and Eighth Avenue. Residents of the area have asked for the program because they feel their street has become crowded due to the pay-for-parking lot instituted at Sunset Center. The program would allow parking on the street only with a residential permit.

Alternate Schedule

THE CARMEL Unified School District's Board of Directors is deciding whether or not to instigate an alternate school year calendar. Although the calendar has acquired the name of the All-Year schedule, this is not actually true. It would, however, provide students and faculty with variable vacation times.

With this alternate schedule, the school year would begin approximately Aug. 13 and would end around June 21. The longer schedule would have the same number of days divided up by several vacation weeks called intersessions. In addition to these intersessions, Thanksgiving and spring break would be lengthened to two weeks instead of only one.

School board representatives John Barrett and Hans Hess recently put together a Carmel High School survey of all four grade levels. It showed an almost split decision between the regular and alternate schedule. 45 percent of the students polled said they preferred the regular and established schedule, while 40 percent felt the alternate schedule would be a change for the better. Fifteen percent of the students could not decide between the two proposed schedules.

The main objection to this alternate schedule is the shortened summer vacation. Instead of the usual 2 1/2 month summer break, there would only be a six-to-seven week vacation. Many students feel the longer summer would be more beneficial.

Those students who depend on full-time summer jobs to build a nest egg of funds for the remainder of the year may feel cheated of valuable work hours. Summer school opportunities, for students who want to work ahead at Monterey Peninsula College or elsewhere, may be limited due to the shortened length of summer vacation.

Many athletes are also opposed to this alternative schedule because the intersessions would conflict with their regular game schedules. Their vacations would not be true vacations. Practices and games would continue as scheduled, hindering any travel and maybe even relaxation plans. This negative factor may cause students to think twice about going out for athletics.

There are, however, many advantages to the alternate schedule. Studies have shown a significant increase in retention rates over a shorter summer vacation, especially in the lower grade levels. The variable vacations would also reduce students' tendency to "burn out." The intersessions would serve as stress relievers, and would be much appreciated when they came around.

Jenny Dyer, a junior at Carmel High School, prefers the regular schedule, yet she feels the alternate schedule has some advantages. "With variable vacation times," she says, "we would get vacations when others are still in session. This would be great for traveling. There would be less traffic and fewer tourists in favored vacation spots."

Carmel Valley High School is currently using the year-round schedule. "The students, faculty, and parents love it!" says Pat Herro, a member of the CUSD Board of Directors. The board has had a lot of positive feedback and many of the members would like to see the schedule instigated at Carmel High School within the next couple of years.

Faculty members at CHS generally support the proposed schedule. Marie Ishida, principal of Carmel High, feels, "The alternate schedule has a lot of merits." She would like to see the schedule altered, however, to a schedule similar to Gonzales High's proposed 1990-1991 calendar.

In this schedule the first semester would be completed before winter break and a new semester would begin upon returning back to school. Currently, the two-week break comes at an awkward time in our regular schedule. The end of the first semester is two weeks after students return from winter break making classroom time limited before finals.

This all-year schedule has already been in use in many Southern Californian schools, as well as Carmel Valley High. Its success has started a trend in the state and Gonzales High is following suit next year. Whether or not we follow in their footsteps will be determined by the school board within the next few years. However, it seems inevitable that by the end of this decade the state will have completely converted to this new schedule. Will we join Gonzales High and become a guinea pig too?

pass legislation to clear our courts so that law enforcement can function properly for the law-abiding citizen.

People who want a better judiciary should vote yes on Prop 115. This bill must pass in order for court reform to become reality instead of a fantasy. Our opposition would like you to believe it limits freedom of choice. This, of course, is ludicrous.

The Crime Victims Justice Reform Act of 1989 (Prop 115), seeks to reform the California Criminal Codes and will have no effect on individual civil rights guaranteed under the Bill of Rights.

Please vote on June 5 and help get criminals off the streets.

Grist for the mill

Dear Editor:

Mayor Jean Grace's recent request for the resignation of my husband, Ed Hicks, from the planning commission was unfair, based on misinformation, and undermines the faith of those who volunteer their services to the City of Carmel.

My husband served four years on the planning commission, having been appointed by Mayor Eastwood. He worked long and hard on the city's new general plan, residential concerns, parking needs, and numerous other compelling issues facing the city. It was therefore a shock to us that his resignation was requested by Mayor Grace for his allegedly having used a racially derogatory term at a Design Review Committee session.

The mayor learned this from an anonymous phone call. At no time did Mayor Grace ask or permit him to explain what he actually said. Nor, to our knowledge, did she ask the other commissioners in attendance what had been said. Had she done so, the mayor would have learned that he did not use a racially derogatory term.

The problem with my husband's dismissal is far broader than miscommunicated and misinterpreted comments at a hearing. Members of the planning commission understood that they serve at the discretion of the mayor, and that they can be asked to step down at any time. Generally, it is assumed that the reason for the requested resignation is justifiable, but it need not be. What is disturbing, however, is that the mayor would use a misinterpreted event as an excuse to request a resignation.

When one accepts a voluntarily appointed office, one does not expect to be wrongfully accused of a misstatement, and especially when the alleged misstatement is of such emotional and social importance. The record must be set straight in order to prevent irreparable damage. Everyone who knows him knows he would not use such a derogatory term, not only because he knows it is wrong, but because he believes it is wrong. Out of respect for these values, he publicly apologized for any personal offense his words may have caused. For one who has supported equal rights movements and ideas for so many years, to be unfairly accused of using a racial epithet, causes him and our family great personal pain.

It is maddening to see the destruction of a beautifully functioning planning commission and Design Review Committee that had the support and endorsement of the community. Caring and dedicated citizens will certainly think twice before volunteering to serve in appointed public office upon learning that they, too, may be used as grist for the political mill.

Bless the many wonderful friends who have stood by us.

Mary Ellen Hicks

Deputies Say: Re-elect Sheriff BUD COOK

Recent advertisements "claim" our Sheriff does not possess the support of his employees. It has been "claimed" 78% of the deputies voted not to support him. This is a figure intended to mislead the voters. Norm Hicks actually received 143 out of 262 ballots counted.

In an effort to establish communications and accessibility for his staff, Sheriff Bud Cook is the only sheriff in the history of Monterey County to initiate a monthly luncheon meeting with the Board of The Deputy Sheriff's Association. He has been doing this for eleven years, since first elected to office.

Those are the facts.

Members of the Monterey County Sheriff's Department and members of the Deputy Sheriff's Association listed below actively support Sheriff Bud Cook. They are your friends, neighbors and acquaintances and represent management, patrol, detention and clerical staff.

Taxing decision

LAST MONTH the U.S. Supreme Court handed down a decision, involving a Kansas City school district, which presumably gives judges wide latitude to solve civil rights questions, and other vexing issues, by levying taxes on recalcitrant local governments. Many liberals and civil rights advocates see this decision as an essential means of overcoming obstructionist governmental bodies.

Although the full court ruled that a local judge went too far by personally ordering a property tax increase, five justices then turned around and declared the judge could compel state and local governments to raise the taxes themselves. Justice Byron White, speaking for the majority, wrote "a court order directing a local government to levy its own taxes is plainly a judicial act within the power of a federal court."

Many people are going to find it very difficult to discern the fine line between federal judges levying taxes themselves and an order by one of them to levy a tax of the judge's design, if indeed there is any difference. White based his argument on the Supremacy Clause, which designates the Constitution and its interpretation by the courts as the supreme law of the land (Art. VI). White is putting particular emphasis, it would seem, on the phrase in that clause which says "...and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby..." which refers to judges being bound to implement the laws of the land, apparently with whatever legal means at their discretion, including the ability to compel taxation.

Judicial remedies for social injustice are, in many cases, the only way such injustice can be surmounted. Minorities of every kind are often faced with legislatures which are indifferent or hostile to their plight, or which are politically moribund by special interest lobbyists. Finding solutions to correct an injustice frequently falls on the shoulders of judges, and it is right to expect the courts to be the final arbiter in such instances. Nevertheless, this decision dangerously blurs, if not outright obliterates, the separation of powers between the judicial and the legislative branches of government and that is an unhealthy situation for constitutional government.

Justice White and the majority are making a very technical distinction when they say a judge may not personally mandate a tax increase, but he may order a local government to do it for him and he may dictate the terms of the tax. The process of judicial involvement in this case is interesting.

In Kansas City the judge ordered a doubling of the property tax and then he imposed a 1.5 percent income tax surcharge on residents of the school district in question. The action taken was in response to the judge's finding that inner-city students in Kansas City had been forced to attend segregated and inferior schools. The school board had been trying to raise additional money to correct the situation, but a constitutionally imposed limit by the state on increases in the property tax (similar to our Proposition 13) made it virtually impossible to do so.

When the 8th Circuit Court reviewed the decision by the lower court, it did not strike down the judge's action. Instead, it threw out the surcharge and modified the property tax, thereby joining the judicial process of structuring a specific

DMV Services increased for hearing impaired

Hearing and speech impaired residents of California will be able to dial the toll-free telephone number 1-(800) DMV-HEAR for information, appointments and certain vehicle registration transactions according to DMV Director Del Pierce.

The special number will connect the caller to a Telecommunications Device for the Deaf (TDD) machine at the department's headquarters in Sacramento. The TDD is an electronic device used with a telephone to transmit and receive typewritten messages.

TDD service will also be available on regular telephone lines for these additional DMV services:

- Customer Relations (complaints and compliments) — (916) 739-4803.
- Financial Responsibility (vehicle insurance inquiries, accident reporting information) — (916) 739-4805.
- Investigations (vehicle industry licensing) — (916) 739-4804.
- Riverside DMV — (information, vehicle registration) — (714) 782-4327.
- Fremont DMV — (information, vehicle registration) — (415) 797-9081.

Pierce said his department was "expanding this vital TDD service to the hearing and speech impaired communities in cooperation with Pacific Bell." The telephone company loaned the TDD equipment to DMV and is providing free service and maintenance for the units.

There are about 2 million hearing impaired residents and an undocumented number of speech impaired persons in California, according to the NorCal Center on Deafness in Sacramento.

tax. The U.S. Supreme Court, on a 5 to 4 vote, has now upheld this action on the technicality that the court has the right to "compel" remedies.

Justice Anthony Kennedy, writing for the minority, comments "Today's casual embrace of taxation imposed by the unelected, life-tenured federal judiciary disregards fundamental precepts for the democratic control of public institutions. The confinement of taxation (in the Constitution) to the legislative branches...was not random." Indeed, the Founding Fathers themselves were specific about the judiciary and taxation. Alexander Hamilton, in Federalist 78, wrote "...the judiciary...has no influence...over the purse..." and James Madison, in Federalist 48, states "...the legislative department alone has access to the pockets of the people." How then do we reconcile this with a need for the courts to be able to compel compliance with a demand to remedy a situation?

Missouri's Sen. Jack Danforth has proposed a constitutional amendment to do what we have believed all along the Constitution insured, reserve to the elected representatives of the people the power to tax. Sen. Gordon Humphrey of New Hampshire has introduced a statute, better than a constitutional amendment, which would invoke a seldom used clause in the Constitution.

The jurisdiction of federal courts is subject to "...such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make," (Art III, sec. 2). Precedents for invoking this clause include an 1812 case (U.S. vs. Hudson and Goodwin) stating, with the exception of the U.S. Supreme Court which derives its power from the Constitution, all other courts possess no jurisdiction other than that granted them by the power which created them. In 1816 the Court ruled Congress "may qualify jurisdiction in such manner as public policy may dictate." In 1932 federal courts were proscribed from issuing injunctions in a labor dispute absent certain specific criteria. There are other cases, including a 1943 ruling again upholding the power of Congress to withhold jurisdiction from lower federal courts. None of these, however, proscribe the power of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Humphrey's law is severe, but might be acceptable if while it proscribes the judiciary from issuing a decree specifically compelling taxation, it does not limit the courts' punitive power against recalcitrant or obstructionist governmental bodies. It would be patently absurd for courts to be able to discern illegalities or inequities, but to have no power to compel action toward their solution. The court needs to be able to say to governmental bodies "This is wrong, correct it." It is the responsibility of the legislative, and sometimes the executive, branch to choose a means which satisfies the end the court is pursuing. Failure on their part to do so satisfactorily leaves them open to punitive action by the court, but the effort at remedial action ought to remain theirs.

In January this year, the city of Yonkers, N.Y., faced the prospect of being fined into bankruptcy for refusing to take action acceptable to a local federal court in a similar segregation case. The city appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court and lost. The Yonkers city council was forced to raise taxes against the will of its residents to solve the problem, but the tax increase was levied by the council, not the court. Many will say there is little substantive difference between the action in Yonkers and that in Kansas City, but there is a difference in respect for the concept of separation of powers and the system of checks and balances essential to constitutional government.

Welcome a French student

A group of 30 French students and their teacher/chaperone will visit Northern California for a four-week home stay this summer, July 6 through Aug. 3. The visit is sponsored by Nacel Cultural Exchanges, a non-profit group.

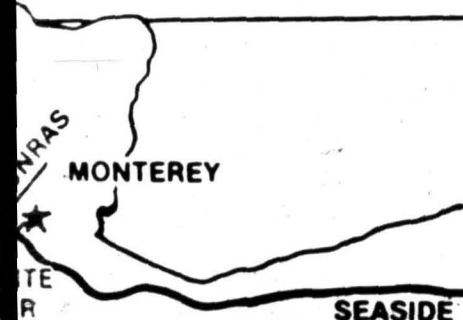

All of the students speak English, and they are coming to California to learn about American family life. Students bring their own spending money, and the program provides insurance. They may accompany host families if travel is planned during the stay.

Anyone interested in hosting a student may contact Ruby Gore, area coordinator for Nacel, at 356-1247.

Seniors program needs participants

Carmel Police Department's "Seniors Helping Seniors" program has need for two types of seniors:
those who would like to help and those who desire help.

According to Cathy Dam-pier, desk officer, there are seniors who are looking for some type of community involvement to donate their time and others who are lonely, "shut-ins," or are "at-risk" due to medical or physical reasons and desire contact with someone who cares about their welfare.

Under the program, senior volunteers call participants of the program by telephone from the Carmel Police Department. If for some reason the recipient doesn't answer the phone, the volunteer alerts the police dispatcher and a patrol unit is sent to check on the participant's welfare. To be effective, calls are made at about the same time every day,
Dampier said, but the seniors aren't restricted to their homes. If they plan to be gone, they merely notify the police department in advance.

In addition to the daily
phone calls, home visitations, tea parties, and luncheons are also scheduled to "further enhance and improve the quality of our contacts" with those who are shut-ins or at-risk, Dampier said.

Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer or a recipient of the "Seniors Helping Seniors" program is encouraged to call the Carmel
Police Department at 624-6403.

A princess lectures

TWO DISASTROUS events of the past brought people together socially on two separate occasions this past week. The American Institute of Architects Monterey Bay Chapter held a reception for the architects assisting Hollister and Watsonville with plans for reconstruction after the earthquake. And, The Monterey County Symphony Guild members welcomed as guest speaker a lady who grew up in Russia.

Although she was of royal birth, the title of Princess Obolenskaya was not only a detriment but a threat to life itself after the revolution. She is now Mrs. George Wayne of Monterey.

Her father, a prince in Czarist Russia, was executed when she was 7 months old. In order to survive, her mother took her daughter, now called Kyra Petrovskaya, into the inner city of Leningrad. Kyra, her mother, grandmother and an aunt lived in one room with four beds, a table and no chairs. They sat on the beds to eat as they lived through the '20s, '30s and the war years of the '40s.

Although the rest of her family succumbed to starvation during the terrible 900-day Siege of Leningrad by the German Army, Kyra managed to survive. Her mother and grandmother died of starvation as did so many others. Kyra said, "Starvation is the most insulting kind of death."

Life was ugly in her youth. She especially hated having her head shaved, as all children were forced to do for sanitary reasons. "Everybody was hungry. Especially the children. Twice I was taken to a hospital to overcome malnourishment," she stated. However, she had an escape — the theater. Life was such an ordeal that Kyra embraced her life on stage with all her being. In fact, she yielded so completely to her emotions while singing in a Mozart opera that she was suspended for two months for being "unprofessional."

Despite her sad childhood, Mrs. Wayne has a delightful sense of humor and her topic for the guild's annual luncheon at the Hyatt Regency was titled, "A Romp Through Two Centuries of Russian Music."

Catherine the Great was a ruler she admires. "Yes, I know she was a despot. I know she was lustful. She had 11 lovers and two husbands." She added with a twinkle, "So, what's wrong with that?"

Catherine was also empress with many "firsts" to her credit — a woman ahead of her time. She appointed the first woman as head of The Academy of Sciences (unheard of in those days!); founded the first Venereal Disease Hospital (the building still stands); started the first school for boy singers (patterned after the Vienna Boys Choir...later girls were accepted and Kyra was one of them); built the first theater (a jewel) in the Hermitage Museum. (Kyra loved performing there). Inspired by the French, Catherine the Great started the first ballet company in Leningrad. In fact, when many French Royalty moved to Russia, she declared French the court language. Catherine became the first "Dear Abby" when she wrote an advice column. She was very straight officially, but unofficially, she had a good time.

Catherine loved music although she was tone deaf. Theater and opera continued and flourished under the rule of Nicholas. To this day, Leningrad "The Window of the World" is the center of Soviet cultural life.

During World War II, Kyra was not only a nurse but entertained the troops with the great composer Dimitri Shostakovich as well. Thus, she brought her Russian history into the 20th Century.

Many people believe that Mr. Shostakovich's "Seventh Symphony" was written as opposition to the Joseph Stalin regime, but Kyra thinks it was done because of the Nazis. The only good thing she could find coming out of the Stalin period was his declaration that children were not responsible for the sins of their parents. This gave her freedom of fear of death due to her birth.

She spoke of a heart-breaking reunion of 40 musicians, who looked like skeletons, thin singers and dancers with so many ulcers they couldn't wear shoes as they performed a concert for the brave people of the city of Leningrad to boost their spirits.

As a child before the war Kyra was trained as a singer, actress, dancer and later as a nurse and sharpshooter. However, for the past 30 or more years she has become a noted lecturer and author of 10 books. Her first book, her biography, was an international best seller but her favorite is "Shurik" — the story of a war orphan.

A brief meeting of the Guild followed with the slate of officers for 1990-91 elected as submitted by the nominating committee. Guild president Marie-Therese Taylor bade farewell to the group she had guided so well for the past two years. She thanked her husband, Al, for being so understanding, and all of the members for their support. Her final words were, "The government won't do it. The only reason we have music is because we have volunteers."

Guild members number 757 and are a small portion of the 80 million volunteers for some two million not-for-profit organizations in the country.

Treasurer Suzanne Borg announced that the Guild had presented $50,000 this past year in support of the outstanding Monterey County Symphony under the baton of Maestro Clark E. Suttle.

Mary Teel Johnson, Guild membership chairwoman, presented a gift to Mrs. Taylor. Mrs. Robert (B.J.) Graham volunteered to furnish table decorations of beautiful spring flowers. New Guild president, Dolores Gunia told me her goals are "to showcase the symphony in a number of cities and to open the symphony season in October with a grand gala."

The Monterey Bay Chapter of the American Institute of Architects held a reception to honor the California Emergency Design Assistance Team (CEDAT) for Hollister and the architects who worked on the Watsonville Urban Land Institute Program.

The reception was sponsored by Design Professional Insurance Company (DPIC). The company opened its office building on the Monterey-Salinas Highway and served delicious hors d'oeuvres and beverages.

Following the welcoming reception some 50 people gathered in the conference room. Allen Robinson (of Will Shaw Associates), coordinator for CEDAT after the earthquake in October of '89, reported on the structural analysis for three Hollister buildings. The buildings were severely damaged and the final decision has not been made on all of them but "the Showcase Theater" surely will be saved. Plans and hopes are at work toward a cultural center area around the historic theater.

Although the City of Hollister started planning and reconstruction evaluations shortly after the quake, not all work has begun. However, Chris Rayes of Hollister brought videos of sections of work that are in progress.

Mike Stanton, of San Francisco, headed by the design criteria for replacement of buildings in Watsonville and he attended to share the progress report.

Although it seems little known to the public in general, most architects do a lot of civic service work without compensation. Architects are the people who started review boards and neighborhood review boards. Maintaining the natural beauty of the area in which they work is one of their primary goals.

Almost completely unknown to the general public in this area also, is the DPIC group. The company, which has 150 employees, moved here from San Francisco. Robert Marquis designed the building DPIC and other companies occupy. When the building was completed in 1983 it received an architectural award the following year.

Mike Wadsworth, (MBAIA president), started the informative and interesting evening in the conference room. Also speaking briefly was Jeanne Byrne, AIA of Pacific Grove and past president of the local chapter.

Actress Dina Merrill floated down the stairs in a beautiful Carolyne Roehm dress at Rockefeller Radio Music Hall during "The Night of a 100 Stars."

On July 11th, professional models from San Francisco will float around a specially staged fashion show out under the trees in Carmel. That is, all the models except two, are from Big San Fran. The other two are from Pebble Beach — but they are bi-coastal models. Alison Eastwood and Jennifer Newman.

Gerry Naditz, manager of Saks Fifth Carmel, has arranged for Ms. Roehm, who is the darling of the rich and sophisticated ladies of the Big Apple, (who must face the new decade with aplomb), to be here in person to sit in the famous Outdoor Forest Theater in Carmel.

Guests at the $100-per Forest Theater Guild Show will see not 50, not 60, but 105 designs from Carolyne Roehm's 1990 Fall Collection. Alpaca capes, sage-and-stone hooded ponchos, iridescent chiffons, gold chantilly lace, a lesage embroidered Celadon satin evening dress and a bridal outfit. DUSTIN BENTON, 9, of Carmel and Kristin Guy, 8, of Pebble Beach make full use of an Apple IIGS computer, a gift to the Youth Services Department of the Harrison Memorial Library Park Branch from the Carmel-by-the-Sea Rotary Club. On hand to see that everything was going smoothly were Sandy Hames, Youth Services librarian, and Phil Arnold, Carmel Rotary president. The computer, which is available to children at the Park Branch Monday through Saturday, comes with a full variety of software, including Math Blaster Mystery, Paintworks Plus, Big Bird's Special Delivery and Reader Rabbit. Rotary funded the $3,500 project because, "We wanted to do something for the kids of Carmel," said Arnold. (Mac McDonald photo.)

CARMEL HIGH BACCALAUREATE RECEPTION SET

The Carmel High School Baccalaureate Committee invites family and friends of the Class of 1990 to a one-hour ecumenical service honoring graduates at 3 p.m. Sunday, June 3 at Forest Theater, Mountain View and Santa Rita, Carmel. A reception will follow the celebration.

Participants in this special event will include: the senior class; Sister Jean and the Junipero Serra Choir from Junipero Serra School; CHS Chamber Orchestra; Rabbi Isaac Neuman, Tom Hawkins and classical guitar selections; Larry Challis, alumni speaker, Young Life; Rev. Kurao Tsuchiya, Rev. Dale Flowers, and the Senior Singers.

For more information call Lou Langley at 624-2269.

RLS COMMENCEMENT EXERCISE SET FOR JUNE 1

The Robert Louis Stevenson School will present its 37th Commencement Exercises at 11 a.m. Friday, June 1 in the Academic Quadrangle on the school's Pebble Beach campus.

Joan Daniels Manley, a woman with a broad background in book publishing and education, including chairing two divisions of Time Inc., Time-Life Books and Book of the Month Club, will give the commencement address. She has spent more than 30 years in the publishing business and is currently active on several boards, including The Friends of Photography and Scholastic Inc. She is the aunt of Jordan Daniels, a 1990 graduate who lives in Salinas with his parents Larry and Helene Daniels.

HEART ASSOCIATION ANNUAL DINNER SET

The Central Mission Trails Chapter of the American Heart Association is celebrating its 26th year.

The 26th Annual Installation Dinner and Volunteer Recognition will take place on Friday, June 1 at La Playa Hotel in Carmel at 6 p.m. The 1990/1991 board of directors will be installed on that evening and a variety of awards, including Volunteer of the Year, will be given out.

The ticket cost is $20 per person and includes a choice of Castroville Chicken or a vegetarian dish as the entree.

The guest speaker made available through an educational grant from Merck, Sharp & Dohme is Dr. John P. Kane, professor of medicine/director, Lipid Clinic at the University of California in San Francisco.

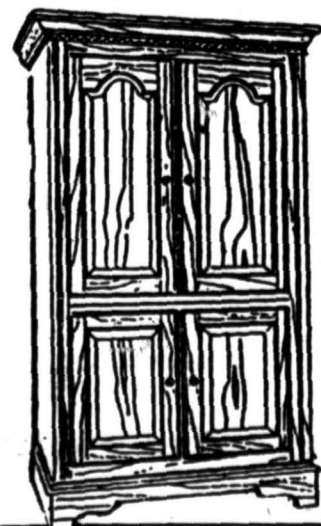

For more information, please call 757-6221 or 1-800-627-6740.

LONGEST DAY OF GOLF SCHEDULED

Golfers participating in the American Cancer Society's Second Annual Longest Day of Golf competition will play their favorite courses between June 1-19.

Each foursome plays as many holes of golf as they can on a particular course on a particular day, while getting pledges of money for each hole completed. Awards will be handed out on June 21 (the longest day of the year), to the golf course whose foursome raises the most pledges, and to the golf course whose foursome plays the most holes.

Last year local golf enthusiasts raised over $11,500 in pledges to help support cancer research, education and services to cancer patients.

Courses participating in this year's event include: the Links at Spanish Bay, Pebble Beach, Spyglass, Corral de Tierra, Laguna Seca, Del Monte, Pajaro Valley, Fort Ord, Quail Lodge, Carmel Valley Ranch, King City, Salinas Country Club, Bolado Park and Ridgemark.

To participate or for more information contact Ron Earhart, development director for the American Cancer Society, 344 Salinas St., suite 108, Salinas 93901 or call 422-2992.

Highest honors

AT A recent dinner meeting the Carmel Masonic Lodge No. 680 honored Joel W. Dickie, 84, with its highest honor, the Hiram Award. The presentation was made by Sydney Parker (left), master of the Carmel lodge, for Dickie's many contributions to Masonry and his lodge. After retiring 25 years ago from a large insurance firm, Dickie and his wife Alice moved to Carmel and invested in real estate. He has also received the Demolay Legion of Honor and a 50-year certificate. Dickie is also a member of Scottish Rite and Knights Templar. He served as master of the local lodge in 1983. Seated at left is H. Richard Ringler of Pacific Grove, inspector of the 392nd Masonic District.

SAN CARLOS SCHOOL DINNER AUCTION SET

San Carlos School in Monterey will hold its fourth annual dinner auction with honorary co-chairs Bert and Bella Cutino on June 1 from 6-10 p.m., at The Monterey Sheraton Hotel. All proceeds will go to San Carlos School.

The highlight of the evening will be a benefit drawing for a new automobile, van or $10,000 in cash, for which you need not be present to win. For tickets contact San Carlos School, 450 Church St., Monterey; phone 373-1324.

CRISIS CENTER RECRUITING VOLUNTEERS

The Monterey Rape Crisis Center is looking for a few "good listeners" to answer the 24-hour Rape Crisis Hotline. Interested individuals will be certified as Sexual Assault Counselors through a 40-hour training which will start Saturday, June 2.

Such training will include communication and counseling techniques, an understanding of the legal system, rape trauma syndrome, and services available to survivors of sexual assault.

Volunteers for the Monterey Rape Crisis Center serve as advocates for victims of rape and child abuse by providing crisis counseling, and by going with survivors of an assault to the hospital, police station or court.

Volunteers work out of their homes, and are asked to take one six-hour shift a week and one weekend shift per month. Requirements include taking the 40-hour certification training, a valid driver's license and a commitment of at least six months. Volunteer advocates also meet once a month with other advocates to discuss cases and are provided with in-service trainings on a regular basis.

For more information contact Karen at the Monterey Rape Crisis Center at 373-3955.

MPC WOMEN'S TEAM SPONSORS TENNIS CLINIC

The Women's Tennis Team from Monterey Peninsula College is sponsoring a tennis clinic at the Hyatt Regency on Sunday, June 3. Several local tennis professionals have volunteered their time to teach the clinic, and will work with any level of player, from novice to advanced. Instruction will be offered from 9 a.m. to noon. After a lunch break, doubles matches will be organized. There will be opportunities all day to win prizes from Wilson, one of the clinic sponsors. The donation for the clinic is $20 and funds raised will go towards a scholarship fund and team traveling expenses.

The Women's Team just completed a successful season. Not only did they compete all over Northern California, but also

THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF WINE & FOOD ANNOUNCES NEW MONTEREY BAY CHAPTER

Julia Child will host a champagne and seafood reception at the Highlands Inn on Sunday, June 3, to launch the Monterey Bay Chapter of The American Institute of Wine & Food.

Founded in 1981 by Julia Child and Robert Mondavi, The American Institute of Wine & Food is a non-profit organization that is dedicated to the understanding and the appreciation of what we eat and drink. The institute offers its members the opportunity to meet and share their ideas with the most knowledgeable people in the industry, including leading chefs, restaurateurs, winemakers, journalists and other leaders in the art of wine and fine cuisine.

The champagne and seafood reception with Julia Child is the Monterey Bay chapter's first of many events and is being held as a special introduction for potential and new members. The event will begin at 11:30 a.m. and is open to the public.

The champagne and seafood reception is open to the general public for $15 and is open to members for $10. And "Lunch With Julia" for members and guests also will be held on Sunday at 1 p.m., following the reception. Reservations are limited and can be made by calling 624-3801 (ext. 251). Information about membership can be obtained by calling Judith Wright at 625-8612 or Dan Lee at 484-1533.

The AIWF is a non-profit educational organization and all dues are tax-deductible as provided by law. Dues include invitations to local and national events and subscriptions to American Wine & Food, a membership newsletter, and the Journal of Gastronomy, a quarterly magazine.

PANEL DISCUSSION ON ART AND THE MEDIA

"Visual Arts and the Media" will be the topic of the June meeting of the Central Coast Chapter of Artist Equity. A panel discussion featuring representatives from both print and radio will include: Anita De Carlo, art editor, Carmel Valley Sun; Rick Deragon, art writer, The Herald; Irene Lagorio, former art critic, The Herald; Irene Masteller, freelance art writer; Betsy Miller, host of a weekly art program on Radio KUSP, Santa Cruz and Ann Papineau, arts editor, Carmel Pine Cone. This timely topic should be of great interest to artists, gallery owners and all those involved in the visual arts.

LMP GRADUATES EIGHT CLASS

Graduation ceremonies for the eighth class of Leadership Monterey Peninsula were held May 23 at the Monterey Sheraton Hotel. Twenty-five class members were presented commemorative plaques by LMP president Dr. Philip C. Nash. The total number of LMP graduates since the beginning of the program in 1983 now reaches 181.

Featured speaker for the evening was David Armanasco, president of Armanasco Public Relations and former president of the Chamber of Commerce of the Monterey Peninsula, whose topic was "The Golden Rolodex." Karen Fulton, executive director of the Monterey County Special Olympics, was elected by her fellow class members to speak for them.

The nine-month program, the motto of which is "Building Tomorrow's Leaders Today," exposes participants to community problems, opportunity and leaders in the field of government, human services, the arts, the military, business/labor/economics, education, and history and culture. Cynthia Hall, LMP executive director, has announced that applications are available for the 1991 class which will begin in September. Applications must be received by July 1, 1990 at the LMP office, 380 Alvarado St., Monterey. Information may be obtained by calling 649-8252. The program is open to interested individuals of all ages.

This year's LMP graduates are:

Pacific Grove and Pebble Beach

Karen Fulton, executive director, Special Olympics; Bruce Johnson, management consultant; Marguerite King, underwriter, DPIC; Todd McCoy, McCoy Financial; Sydney Tabler, data control technician, Monterey Peninsula College; Larry Walker, portfolio manager, Dean Witter.

Monterey and Seaside

Carmel and Carmel Valley

Becky Allen, field representative, office of Assemblyman Sam Farr, Gary Luce, vice president and general manager, Inns-by-the-Sea; Sandra Kasky, director of special events, The Pebble Beach Co.; Mary Masten, counselor, Pacific Grove School District; Ann Tipton, development coordinator, Hospice of the Central Coast.

Salinas

TWO BOYS FROM CARMEL VALLEY TROOP GAIN SCOUTING'S HIGHEST AWARD

Anthony Hill of Carmel Valley and Christopher Cornelissen of Carmel were awarded their Eagle Rank from The Boy Scouts of America May 5. The boys, both members of Troop 127, Carmel Valley, received the awards at a special Court of Honor ceremony at St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church in Carmel Valley.

Hill (18 years old) is son of Claude and Ruth Hill and is a senior at Carmel High School. He has been a soccer player since age 5 and has played varsity soccer for Carmel High for the last three years. He will be touring Germany this summer with a Watsonville team. He has been involved in the scouting program for 10 years, and through his position as Assistant Senior Patrol Leader, was instrumental in building Troop 127 into one of the largest troops on the peninsula. He will be furthering his education at San Diego State University.

Cornelissen (16 years old) is son of Mr. and Mrs. H.A. Cornelissen, and is a junior at Carmel High School where he is an honor student. He is a member of both the school band and the Central Coast Honor Band and has been a volunteer in Community Hospital's Emergency Room. Within scouting, he has also earned the Ad Altare Dei and Pius XII, scouting's religious medals, and has served as the Senior Patrol Leader of the troop. He is currently a Junior Assistant Scoutmaster. He plans to attend a school in the University of California system and hopes to pursue a career in medicine.

The Eagle award represents extensive involvement with the Scouting program and involves community service, leadership, personal growth and proficiency in many skills.

GRIFFIN "EXCELLENCE IN TEACHING" AWARDS PRESENTED

The Ninth Annual Allen Griffin Awards for Excellence in teaching were presented to Gary E. Avedisian and Alexey A. Kiselev in ceremonies at the Old Whaling Station on May 24. The two winners were chosen from among seven nominees from local schools, and each winner received a cash award of $1,600 and a commemorative plaque.

Avedisian has been at Pacific Grove High School for 18 years, where he has taught chemistry, physics, advanced placement physics, earth science, wilderness studies and advanced chemistry. He has chaired the science department, served on the WASC accreditation teams for three years, and is a workshop leader for the tri-county chemistry teachers this year. In 1989 he was a recipient of a National Science Foundation Grant. In addition, he has coached softball and tennis for many years, and was the advisor to the California Scholarship Federation (campus honor society), for 12 years. Away from school, he is active in Church of the Wayfarer, having served as a youth group leader and Church School superintendent, as well as other capacities.

Kiselev teaches Russian Studies at the Defense Language Institute. He has served as a mentor of the LeFox Program, which is a highly intensive 47-week basic Russian course. In 1989 he was invited to present a paper and serve as a discussant at an international symposium in the USSR; subsequently his paper was published in a prestigious Russian journal. Outside of school, he is Human Relations commissioner for the City of Seaside, vice-chairman of the Monterey County Housing Council Board, and church council member/treasurer at St. Seraphim Russian Orthodox Church.

The foundation also congratulated and presented special plaques to the other outstanding teachers who were nominated: Sue Williams-Pierik, a teacher of art and design at Carmel High; Michael Weesner, who teaches video arts at Monterey High; Edward T. Migliore, instructor of mathematics and chairperson of the Physical Science Division at Monterey Peninsula College; Frank M. Teti, associate professor of National Security Affairs with the Naval Postgraduate School; and David C. Roberts, faculty member of the International Management Division of the Monterey Institute of International Studies.

The Griffin Awards were created by a bequest to the Community Foundation from the late Col. Allen Griffin,

OBITUARIES

Lillian Devendorf Hohfeld

Funeral services took place May 15 in San Francisco, for Lillian Devendorf Hohfeld of San Francisco, prominent patroness of the arts and sciences and the daughter of Carmel founder and developer James Franklin Devendorf, who died May 10 at her home. She was 100.

She also numbered a step-grandfather, Joseph Aram of Monterey, the first signer of the California Constitution, among her forebears.

Born April 14, 1890, in San Jose, she was one of the San Francisco Bay Area's gifted young violinists and pursued her musical career in Europe until the outbreak of World War I.

She first visited Carmel in 1902 and gave a violin concert at the Pine Inn at the age of 19 in 1909.

In 1915 she married attorney Edward Hohfeld, a founder of the San Francisco law firm now known as Morrison Foerster.

Mrs. Hohfeld was a member of the board of governors of the San Francisco Symphony for many years and a leader in promoting musical activities for handicapped children.

Mr. Hohfeld died in 1966, and in his memory she established the Hohfeld Hall of Space Science at the California Academy of Sciences. She also endowed the library of the academy's Botanical Department.

The 140-acre Lillian Devendorf Hohfeld Nature Reserve at Elkhorn Slough is named in her honor.

Other major charities she supported included the Boys Club of San Francisco, the St. Labre Indian School and the World Mercy Fund. She was a member of the Century Club of California and the Town and Country Club.

Mrs. Hohfeld is survived by a daughter, Jane Hohfeld Galante and her husband, Clemente of San Francisco, two grandsons and two great-grandsons.

Justina Mary Roberts

Memorial services took place April 27 at the Little Chapel by-the-Sea, for Justina Mary Roberts of Carmel, a nurse, who died April 20 at her home. She was 64.

Born Jan. 31, 1926, in Chicago, she had lived in Carmel for the past eight years, moving here from Phoenix, Ariz. She had worked as a private duty nurse.

Mrs. Roberts is survived by two sons, Steve of Lake Tahoe and Brian of Phoenix; two daughters, Joanne Owens of Mesa, Ariz., and Mary Lee Corrington of Las Vegas Nev.; and five grandchildren.

Private cremation took place under the direction of the Paul Mortuary.

The family suggests that any memorial contributions be sent to the Central Mission Trails chapter of the American Heart Association, 76 Stephanie Drive, Salinas, 93901.

T. Bruce Thurston

A memorial service took place April 30 at Smith and Arnold's Chapel of the Four Seasons in Santa Cruz, for T. Bruce Thurston, a former resident of Carmel Valley, who died April 26 at his Aptos residence. He was 36.

Born March 3, 1954, in South Bend, Ind., he was a 1972 graduate of Soquel High School.

He is survived by his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. A.E. Mayfield of Carmel Valley; a brother, T. Dwight Thurston of San Jose; and a sister, Dereva Lambright of Santa Clara.

Cremation took place, and ashes were scattered at sea off Pacific Grove.

The family has requested that any memorial contributions be sent to the American Diabetes Association, 740 Front St., Santa Cruz.

Anthony Dunsford

A memorial service took place May 1 at the Little Chapel by-the-Sea, for Anthony Alton Dunsford of Carmel, who died April 28 at A San Jose hospital. He was 46.

Mr. Dunsford, who was known as Tony, was born May 24, 1943, in Lowell, Mass. He was self-employed as a paralegal.

A longtime resident of the Carmel area, he was a graduate of Carmel High School and the University of California at Santa Barbara. He was a veteran of the U.S. Air Force. His fiancée was Susan H. Silver of Carmel.

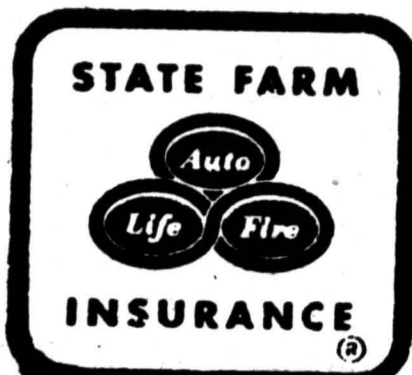

He is survived by a daughter, Laura R. Grams of Palo Alto; two brothers, Donald Dunsford Jr. of Prunedale and Michael Dunsford of Lake Tahoe; and his mother, Rosetta Dunsford of Carmel.

Cremation took place followed by scattering of ashes at sea. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

The family suggests that any memorial contributions be sent to the Alzheimer's Association or the Buddy Program of the Monterey Peninsula.

Seniors program needs participants

Carmel Police Department's "Seniors Helping Seniors" program has need for two types of seniors: those who would like to help and those who desire help.

According to Cathy Dampier, desk officer, there are seniors who are looking for some type of community involvement to donate their time and others who are lonely, "shut-ins," or are "at-risk" due to medical or physical reasons and desire contact with someone who cares about their welfare.

Under the program, senior volunteers call participants of the program by telephone from the Carmel Police Department. If for some reason the recipient doesn't answer the phone, the volunteer alerts the police dispatcher and a patrol unit is sent to check on the participant's welfare. To be effective, calls are made at about the same time every day, Dampier said, but the seniors aren't restricted to their homes.

Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer or a recipient of the "Seniors Helping Seniors" program is encouraged to call the Carmel Police Department at 624-6403.

The Golden Years

By Myles Williams

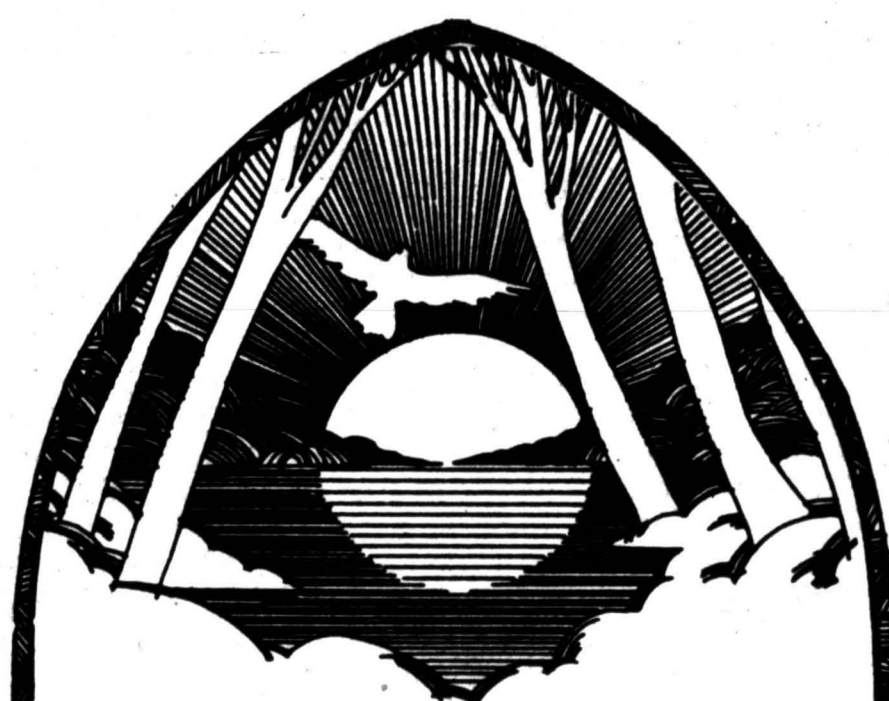

The United States Shoe Corporation in Cincinnati has a senior board of directors. Seven of the 10 directors are 65 or more. One is 90 and two are in their 80s. Board chairman Philip Barach is only 58. Queried about the age level of the board, he commented: "With age comes seasoning, and we look on the older people on our board as that source of seasoning."

Despite cosmetic changes associated with aging, the skin continues to do its body-regulating chores throughout life, the National Institute on Aging (NIA) points out. One problem that becomes more common with age is itching, caused by dryness from loss of oils in the skin. To prevent itching, NIA suggests cool baths and use of moisturizers, less use of antiperspirants, soaps, perfumes and long hot baths, and avoiding overexposure to air without adequate humidity. Generalized itching can be a sign of illness, and should be discussed with a physician.

FATHER FARRELL'S WISDOM

Another kind of vandal

from June 3, 1982
Carmel Pine Cone

We throw up our hands in horror when we read that a school, a church, or a home has been vandalized. We are shocked at the needless destruction broken windows and furniture; rooms flooded, paint tossed on walls and ceilings. Everywhere there is a plague of graffiti disfiguring public buildings and bridges with obscene words and symbols. However, there are more prevalent forms of vandalism: gossip, sarcasm and the misuse of speech.

We hear so called "good people" sabotage their neighbor's reputation in seconds with a ruthlessness more destructive than any physical rampage. Some men become experts at making false judgments and reaching rash conclusions based on unfounded suspicions. Others, out of meanness, will withhold a compliment or refuse to give a compliment or praise when it is due. They refuse to see good in others and zero in on every fault and failure. These types of vandalism can be more destructive than acts which make headlines.

The cure for verbal vandalism is so simple — we almost hesitate to mention it. It is grounded in the Golden Rule. Speak of others as you would have them speak of you. The old Visigoth tribe of Vandals is still alive and well in Carmel.

When were you vandalized lately and when did you retaliate 100 percent? Maybe we carry an improper passport!

You don't have to be an American to die of a heart attack.

You also don't have to overeat. Or consume excessive amounts of cholesterol. Or ignore high blood pressure. Or smoke. But that's what a large segment of this country's population does. And that's one reason the United States has the highest incidence of heart attack in the world. At the American Heart Association, we're trying to help Americans change the way they live. And die.

NINA DILLARD'S mixed media ceramic sculpture will be displayed with oil paintings by Clell Harrison and wood block prints by Sally Sanders at the Cherry Foundation. The show continues through June 30.

Artistic trio featured at Cherry Gallery

A GROUP exhibit of ceramics, oil paintings and woodcut prints will open Saturday, June 2 at the Cherry Foundation.

The exhibit, which continues through June 30, includes oil paintings by Clell Harrison, ceramic sculpture by Nina Dillard and woodblock prints by Sally Sanders.

Sally Sanders' moody wood block prints describe spiritual states rather than actual landscapes. Like records of a lost world, scratched into pine and printed on watercolor paper, Sanders' prints are an ebullient mix of primitive and modern art. In the 14 monochromatic pieces there are allusions to earth, fire, wind, sand, rock and sky, with all manner of surface incidents occurring in the work. But in every instance the overriding theme is man and his myths.

Using pit-fired clay burnished with wood and glass, Nina Dillard has created a personal iconography based on nature that reflects both American Indian art and the cultures of ancient Greece and Rome. Dillard apprenticed as a jeweler before beginning an art program at Monterey Peninsula College where she has shown with the student ceramics club, the Mud People.

Hats, personal history, dream and myths have been just a few of the subjects chronicled by Carmel artist Clell Harrison in his vibrantly colored oil paintings. His new paintings — big and small — create a colorful motif evoking themes of playfulness and the spirit. Harrison has studied painting in New Mexico and with Pat and John Cunningham in Carmel.

A reception for the artists will be held from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. on Saturday, June 2 at the Cherry Foundation Gallery, Fourth and Guadalupe, Carmel.

Gallery hours are from 11 to 4 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

The exhibit is made possible, in part, through grants from the city of Carmel-by-

ART NOTES

By Sam Colburn

The way things look

FROM THAT PRIMITIVE device known as the pinhole camera has evolved the sophisticated mechanism we now use to record the way things look whether the subject matter is still or in motion. One might say that it is the supreme medium of our time. Along the way the arts of painting, drawing and sculpture have been strongly affected. There was a time when all representations of subject matter for advertisements had to be drawn or painted. Now photographs are used no matter if it is a Popsicle or a massive blow-up of fruit on the sides of trucks. So the artists have been freed from the inhibiting restraints of trying to make things look exactly as they appear. As part of this release came the decline of the School of the Academy. Some of the movements have been Impressionism, Expressionism, Surrealism, Dadaism, Abstraction, Non-Objectivism and Conceptualism.

The gallery at the Monterey Conference Center is currently showing the work of Carmel artist Carol Chapman. She expresses herself in several media. Most of the pieces are serigraphs, but she paints in oil, and has adventures in polychromatic steel. Among the serigraphs is "Sausalito." A boat is tough subject matter as reflections in water are not easy to simplify, but she handles it beautifully.

In the same medium are "Santa Fe Chairs," and "Pink Adobe." These are from The Land of the Big Sky, New Mexico, and somehow infer the brilliance of light in that elevated terrain. Carol Chapman likes mundane subjects on occasion. In her "Towel" series the color and the vertical striping intrigue the eye. Two of these are oils and the third a watercolor. One of the works in polychromatic steel, "Vertical Stripes," is a sculpture devoted to the same imagery. Again in this media is "Cubes No. 4." Each side is different. One wonders what techniques were involved in their creation. Carol shows that she can express herself in several media. Her concepts are always geometric in form.

IT IS NOT OFTEN that one gets to see an exhibit presenting the sculpture of 13 artists in one room. The Carmel Art Association does so in "The Third Dimension '90," a multi-media showing of new works, which will be on view through June 6. There is a great range in scale — from the tiny forms created by Beth Garcia's deft hands to a large marble valentine by Kathleen Crocetti.

If you saw a geode in half, you will find beautiful crystals. Beth has placed two bear cubs, fashioned from 14 karat gold, in the cavity. All her animals, although in miniature, are intimately done. She gives us two little human figures also, "Amish, Father and Son."

Gordon Newell shows bas relief sculpture made of cast paper. As far as I know this is a new medium for him. Eileen Auvil uses the same material for three birds which are mounted on the wall. Her sly humor comes out in a metal piece entitled "Egg Bird Revisited."

Isabel Tavernetti's sculpture always shows a very playful humor. Her shapes in clay are born of phantasy with, happily enough, no attempt at physical reality. "Fun Family" is indeed that. Dennis Handy exhibits plastic maquettes, "Shelter," and "Reclining Form." They can be cast in bronze to any size desired. The forms are flowing, and of interest from any point of view. I think that this is a goal for any sculptor.

Kenneth Weiss does this in the three pieces that he shows as does Randy Puckett with his whale forms.

Wah Chang has an entirely new approach in his "Racer." This is fascinating as the horse has many legs and four tails just as if he was in motion. I have seen many sculptures of this animal running, but they are, of course, frozen in space. His "Falcon On The Wing" is simple but eloquent. Three peices carved in an interesting pink stone are the work of Bert Conaghan. His handling of subject matter is very felicitous. I had never thought of a sting ray as being subject matter, but its bat-like form has a beauty which is brought out by Blaine Black in his "Manta."

THE CLAYPOOLE-FREESE Gallery has an exhibit of paintings, drawings and monotypes by Deanna Forbes. In her written evaluation of herself, I sense a profound intellect. She has apparently studied and worked with Diebencon and Bischof. Her subject matter, hummingbirds, are an expression of human hopes and hangups. She manages to simulate the desperation of these tiny creatures and ourselves caught in a trap not of our own making.

I liked the insinuation of motion in the untitled studies in oil, 3, 4, 5 and 6. This is loose but at the same time, definitive handling of oil. The work most brilliant in color is "Progress: Bird Indigo." The bright red of the beak is a great foil for the cool colors. There are three charcoal drawings entitled "War Zones." In C6 of this series she effects the feeling of ascension. In most of these works the birds are hung up on barbed wire or trapped by walls. This is a metaphor for humans.

THE SECOND Open Studio Tour was held on May 19th and 20th. This was arranged by Artists Equity which is an unusual organization for artists. As far as I know, there are no qualifications for membership. You say you are an artist, pay the membership fee, and you are in. The tour provides a marvelous chance for the public to enter the domain of the artist. This is, of course, more true when the studio is in the home of the artist.

CARMEL ARTIST Carol Chapman has recently branched out into three-dimensional designs. A multi-media collection of her work can be viewed at the Monterey Conference Center, Del Monte and Alvarado, Monterey. (Photograph by Pete Goode).

THIS UNTITLED mixed media painting by Cheryl Tonty is among her works featured in the Elmarie Dyke Gallery at the Pacific Grove Art Center. Works by Billy Rose, Eugene

Hollander and students of Dante Rondo are also gathered for this new show. An opening reception is set 7 to 9 p.m. Friday, June 1. The center is at 568 Lighthouse Ave. in Pacific Grove.

Multiple media showcased at PG Art Center

GUEST ARTISTS from California and Chicago will present paintings, drawings and photographs at the Pacific Grove Art Center from June 1 through July 6. In addition, the Art Center will sponsor a children's show of paintings, drawings, and collages in the Hall Gallery. An opening reception will be held for the artists from 7 to 9 p.m. on Friday, June 1.

In the Gill Gallery, Inverness painter Billy Rose exhibits his abstract acrylic paintings. Rose states that, for him, painting is a necessary activity, a liberation. His work is an arrangement of abstract elements that are, in essence, ideas of the mind and heart.

Learn Spanish in Mexico

June 1 is the deadline for enrolling in Monterey Peninsula College's Cuernavaca Connection, a four-week intensive Spanish Language Program in Mexico. The program runs from June 23 through July 21.

Students will earn five units of college credit while studying at the Instituto Fenix, located 50 miles south of Mexico City. Students are immersed in the Spanish language as they attend daily classes, participate in Saturday field trips, attend social events, and live with host families.

Upon enrollment, each student's proficiency in Spanish is assessed so that a personal program can be developed.

Students learn the language much as they learned their native English, absorbing it from the environment.

Students enroll in 12-hour minicourses to study such topics as the literature and art of Mexico, backstrap weaving, myth and thought in ancient Mexico, pre-Columbian civilization, modern Mexican literature, or a historical survey of Women in Mexico.

The program fee of $1,000 includes study, lodging and meals. Roundtrip airfare from Monterey to Mexico City is approximately $400.

For information, contact Emilio Esquivel in the Spanish Department at Monterey Peninsula College, 646-4107.

In the Dyke Gallery, Cheryl Tonty, a Campbell resident, exhibits a series of black and white drawings. Using the dark, velvety medium of conte crayon, she emphasizes form, tone, light and shadow. She describes her work as depicting a surreal world — figures, anthropomorphized animals and objects both prosaic and bizarre — set in menacing circumstances with nightmarish urgency.

Photographer Eugene Hollander presents his black and white, infrared images in the Photography Gallery. His show, entitled "Infrared Visions," uses the glowing, eerie quality of infrared film to heighten the mystery of his landscapes and scenic images. His intent is to force the viewer to wonder what is beyond the unknown.

In the Hall Gallery, art instructor Dante Rondo of the Art Center will curate a show of his students' work. Artists, ages 7 to 14, will present their drawings, paintings and collages.

For further information, call 375-2208.

The Pacific Grove Art Center is funded in part by the Monterey County Cultural Council.

GroveMont Theater Arts Center, 320 Hoffman (at Lighthouse) in New Monterey.

ON STAGE

Children's Experimental Theatre Spring Festival of Plays

Their annual gift to the community, The Children's Experimental Theatre Spring Festival of Plays returns Fridays through Sundays, June 1-3 and June 8-10.

Setting is the Indoor Forest Theater, Mountain View and Santa Rita, Carmel. Admission to all shows is free.

This year, children in the third and fourth grades will stage The Paradise of Children. Fifth graders will present Little Red Riding Hood.

Sixth graders will put on their version of Rumpelstiltskin, while the seventh and eighth grade students present The Ghosts of Thorensfield.

Four different plays relating to differing views of men and women will be staged by the high school age students.

The Spring Festival will bow at the following times: 7:30 p.m. Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays; 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays and noon to 5 p.m. Sundays.

For additional information, call 624-1531.

Evita

The 20th anniversary of the Monterey Peninsula College Theatre is celebrated with a staging of the musical, Evita. The production, featuring music by Andrew Lloyd Webber, tells of the legendary Eva Peron, who went from poverty to becoming First Lady of Argentina.

Sid Cato directs Evita and David Rupert conducts the 18-piece orchestra. The score includes the songs "Don't Cry for Me, Argentina," and "On This Night of a Thousand Stars." Bill Doggett provides vocal direction.

Evita plays on the Main Stage Theatre at Monterey Peninsula College, 980 Fremont St., Monterey. It continues at 8 p.m. Thursdays through Saturdays and 2 p.m. Sundays until June 9.

Tickets are available through the MPC Box Office, 646-4213, 4 to 7:30 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, and Center Stage Ticketing, 649-5561, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

The House of Blue Leaves

The Western Stage at Hartnell College stages John Guare's award-winning comedy, The House of Blue Leaves.

The play focuses on Artie, a second-rate composer; his crazy wife Bananas; his mistress, Bunny; and a son who plots to blow up the Pope.

Curtain is at 8 p.m. Thursday, May 31 and Friday, June 1.

The Studio Theater on the Hartnell College campus is the setting for The House of Blue Leaves.

Single tickets are $8.50 to $10.50, and season tickets are also available. For reservations, call 375-2111 or 649-5561.

Hartnell College is at 156 Homestead Ave. (off West Alisal Street), Salinas.

Eleemosynary

Lee Blessing's Eleemosynary continues the 1990 Season of New Plays at the GroveMont Theater Arts Center in New Monterey. The play probes the delicate and humorous relationship between three women. It is directed by Kathy Deskin-Jacobs.

Rosamond Goodrich portrays Dorothea, a grandmother who asserted her independence through strong-willed eccentricity. Dorian Ellis plays Artie, her daughter, who has fled that eccentricity to achieve her own independence. And Julie Hughett portrays Echo, a child of exceptional intellect whom Artie left to Dorothea's care.

Eleemosynary continues at 8 p.m. Thursdays through Saturdays and at 7 p.m. Sundays until Saturday, June 9. One Sunday matinee has been scheduled for 2 p.m. on June 3.

Cafe seating opens one hour before showtime, with a variety of sandwiches, hors d'oeuvres, desserts, beer, wine and soft drinks available before the show and at intermission. The GroveMont Theater Arts Center is located at 320 Hoffman (between Lighthouse and Hawthorne) in New Monterey.

Ticket prices on Thursdays and Sundays are $8.50 general and $7 for students, seniors and the military. Ticket prices on Fridays and Saturdays are $9.50 general and $8 for others. Advance tickets may be purchased through Center Stage Ticketing at 649-5561. For reservations, call the GroveMont Theater at 649-6852.

Picnic

The Western Stage has chosen William Inge's Pulitzer Prize-winning play, Picnic, to open its 1990 season. Tom Humphrey directs this play. Set in Kansas, Picnic tells of several women and the transformation they experience when a young, handsome itinerant finds his way to their neighborhood.

The Studio Theater on the Hartnell College campus is the setting for Picnic. Curtain is at 8 p.m. Saturday and Thursday, June 2 and 7; and at 7 p.m. Sunday, June 3.

Single tickets are $8.50 to $10.50, and season tickets are also available. For reservations, call 375-2111 or 649-5561.

Hartnell College is at 156 Homestead Ave. (off West Alisal Street), Salinas.

Harvey

The Wharf Theater presents Mary Chase's classic comedy that takes its cue from a whimsical six-foot rabbit. Harvey is directed by Harrison Shields. The cast features Jim Jensen as Elwood P. Dowd and Gina Welch-hagen as Vita Louise Simmons.

Harvey plays at 8:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays and 8 p.m. Sundays through June 10.

Tickets are $10 general, $5 for children and students under 20.

The Wharf Theater is located at the end of Old Fisherman's Wharf in Monterey. For reservations, call 649-2333 or 372-1373.

A Fool's Paradise

There's arsenic, there's old lace, but in this classic English melodrama, it's an evil wife attempting to do in her wealthy husband because she loves another. Not to fear, "good" triumphs over evil in the end in A Fool's Paradise.

This 19th century classic is presented at California's First Theatre.

Curtain is at 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays.

The theater, the oldest in the state, is located at the corner of Scott and Pacific streets in historic downtown Monterey.

Tickets are $6 for adults, $5 for seniors and teens and $4 for subteens. The theater box office is open 1 to 5 p.m. Wednesdays and Thursdays and 1 to 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays.

For tickets or information, call 375-4916 or 649-5561.

JAZZ TIDES

By John Detro

It's just us, folks

OTHER VOICES: June's about ready to bust out. Merry May was a pretty good month — truthwise. Columnists Herb Caen and Patrick Franklin came upfront with observations that've been working assumptions within the jazz and rap (minority) communities for some years now.

Herb (5/18): "The two-tier society is fast becoming a reality, and there'll be hell to pay." Patrick (same day): "Musical training in American public schools has grown increasingly poor over the past two decades ... the kids are being shortchanged...."

Two-tier = Serious Money plus Servant Class. This peninsula's a microcosm of The Middle's pressurized breakup. Education administrators always have fought to preserve — what? Not quality in the classroom, but their own safety zones. I speak as a former teacher, education reporter, idea peddler on Capitol Hill. With very few exceptions, our so-called leaders in education and public policy cling like tree sloths to illusory power lines. The saying brings sadness: heartfelt service hardly exists as a priority.

Congressman Panetta seems able to play the power game without being corrupted by it. He has a strong sense of family and ethnic richness. He plays the piano in a manner worth hearing. In short, he incorporates factors of balance and viewpoint that today are being withheld from young folks. (Capitol Hill's most basically a postgraduate course in soul-rot).

Serious Money says it's all right for uncounted American children to go without adequate food and shelter and medical care. Serious Money says let's turn urban cores into containment centers for the wandering poor and clinically insane. Serious Money avoids at all costs the obvious response to federal budget deficit and related ills — uniform taxation based upon wealth. Inspired figures like Bobby Kennedy and Malcolm X (who advocated cultural unity after checking out Mecca) simply get snuffed.

So why should a jazz column mention these things? Because the art form's true creators (Pops Armstrong, Bird, Diz, Lady Day, Mingus, Miles, Trane, so on) always knew that Serious Money would offer no help. Because jazz clubs today bring forth more prophets than do organized faiths. Because it's just us, folks. Humane solutions don't exist on the level of Serious Money and its ossified bureaucracy.

Anyone who'd understand jazz must identify The Sound. The Sound = purity's reaction to the stacked deck. The Sound tells us beauty's only the beginning — that prophets face a terrible enemy. Materialism simply ignores them to death: even a Trane or Mingus eventually will flame out. These days The Sound comes at us from young alto saxist Kenny Garrett and Miles (still) and The Leaders and Mose Allison (still) and those players trained by Ellis Marsalis in New Orleans. Check out the Jordan brothers — Marlon on trumpet and flutist Kent. Bobby Watson, Mulgrew Miller, dear old Blakey, Cindy Blackman at her drums. These and others like them celebrate The Sound that's also the theme music of perpetual birth. Their work's so necessary. As Gandhi showed in India, that Warrior Class which protects Serious Money can wake up too — through the ears and eyes.

The lack of meaningful action on official planes tells the same old fact — it's just us bumbling lovers. One person somehow making touch with one other.

Here at home? If any kids out there want to investigate jazz journalism or get involved in a poetry workshop, contact yours truly through this newspaper. If any adults care to chat about alternative learning and food systems, please do the same. It's only us. We're here and might as well have some fun.

IT'S JUST US: Primary organizer Sara Moore reminds that much jazz and good food will enliven the benefit for painter Bruce Arris and writer wife Jean on Sunday afternoon (6/3) at Shanty Malone's in Carmel Valley (Valley Hills Center beside Quail Lodge). Fire destroyed the historic Arris home on Huckleberry Hill. Sara's writer parents — Raylyn and the late Ward Moore — brought her up within the warmth of their friendship with Jean and Bruce.

Sara says the event will start at one o'clock and have an eight-hour run. Pianist Bobby Phillips has been gathering commitments from musicians and singers. The lineup will feature Bobby, Papa Jake and those Abalone Stompers, Terry Miller, Buddy Jones, vocalist Bill Allison, Kenny Stahl, on and on. "We plan continuous music," Sara reports. "Responses have been generous and quick."

George Malone offered the use of his roomy and quite beautiful restaurant. Chef Ken Weeks will put donated foodstuffs to excellent use — roast beef, Big Sur rockfish, salads and other vegetarian specials. Cover: $20 per. Sara will set up a table in case folks care to offer additional sums.

When I first came here to live in 1958, Bruce and Jean already had been cultural resources and endlessly helpful neighbors for many years. Nuf said.

Johnny Adams of KRML Jazz Radio (1410AM) will air his three-hour tribute to the late Sammy Davis beginning at four o'clock on Friday afternoon (6/1). He obtained comments from Stevie Wonder, Steve Lawrence, others. Johnny's shows on Sarah Vaughan, Dexter Gordon and Emily Remler were sensitive and thorough. Now Sammy.

Director Lewis Jackson of Seaside Community Services truly enjoys pleasing citizens. On Saturday (6/2 from 11-4) the agency's sixth annual Family Fun Extravaganza will "kick off the summer season" with varied activities at Oldemeyer Center. The jazz unit fronted by vibes master Bobby Hutcherson will play at two o'clock.

Included: Ronald McDonald, train rides, game booths, "the famous bounce machine," clowns, pie-eating and dance contests, refreshments. All free of charge. Seaside Disposal and Seaside Rotary helped sponsor. Info: 899-6270.

Barbara Murphy's Portofino Coffee House in Pacific Grove keeps adding worthwhile public programs. Bill Allison (trumpet and keyboards as well as voice) formed a duo with flutist Kenny Stahl. They'll do a Sunday afternoon series at Barbara's place. Starts 6/3 and runs through August. Modest cover.

For Saturday evening (6/9) the bill's Titos Somba and his drummers plus Heather Secord with backup band (Stahl, bassist Dennis Murphy, fine percussionist Macucho Bonilla). Eight o'clock kick and $7 per; reservations suggested (373-7379).

Heart failure ended the earthly life of retired music educator Bruce Hubbard. Age 77. Bruce inaugurated jazz studies at Monterey Peninsula College, served on the Monterey Jazz Festival board, was a freelance jazz pianist of solid repute.

Big congratulations to all involved for the concert staged at Monterey Conference Center's Steinbeck Forum by Monterey Peninsula Jazz Orchestra and special guest Ed Shaughnessy. Ed's a Los Angeles power drummer with few living peers; MPJO met the challenge of his presence and quite simply came into maturity during the evening's swinging course. ("this's a high-level bunch," Ed said.)

Ed's wife heard MPJO some weeks ago and suggested that he make touch. The real gentleman volunteered his time and expenses. "When I was a kid in New Jersey," he added, "there was poverty. I owe a lot to jazz radio — it helped me make it through many nights. And older players were good to me. I like giving back to the music."

Notable MPJO soloists: Conductor Biff Smith and Bobby Phillips (electric piano), Eddie Graham and Bob Blankenship (drums), Bryan Stock (flugelhorn), Terry Miller (electric bass), Terrel Eaton (reeds), Roger Eddy and Todd Clickard (tenor), Brian Moore (trombone), Stan Siroken (muted trumpet), Monterey Vocal Jazz Ensemble — Bill Allison, Peggy Nesbitt Brown, Lauri Hofer, Lee Durley — offered a tight bright set. Particularly fetching was Bill's arrangement of Naima by John Coltrane.

Ed's sheer skill, magnetism and support of music education (non-profit MPJO does jazz clinics at primary schools) shan't be forgotten. The event did more than raise funds; it showed audience members and orchestra participants alike that these local musicians can handle truly demanding occasions.

SIGHT BITES: Bassist Curtis Ohlsen's group plays the Monterey Bay Club on Thursday night (5/31). Others: Roger Eddy (6/1-2), Bob Phillips and Terry Miller (6/3), Don Pendergrass plus pals (6/4), Jack and Ed Show (6/5), Monterey Jazz Quartet Ensemble (6/6).

Bassist Norm Ross and various colleagues play weekly jazz gigs at The Firehouse in Monterey (414 Calle Principal). Call 649-3016.

Kuumbwa Jazz Center of Santa Cruz spotlights alto saxist Christopher Hollyday and his quartet on Monday night (6/4). He's a 20-year-old pro from the Boston area with major label albums to his credit. Starts at eight o'clock; $11 per; Center Stage Ticketing. (Half-price for Kuumbwa members.)

June bookings in the Paul Masson Summer Series: Etta James and Clarence Clemons (6/10-11), Jack DeJohnette/Herb Hancock/Dave Holland/Pat Metheny (6/11-14), Robert Cray Band (6/23-24).

Jim Benham's a trumpet-playing investments executive who sponsors the free Palo Alto series called Jazz in the Square. New slate: Full Faith and Credit Big Band (with vocalist Morning Nichols) plus Brilliant Corners Tentette (6/8), Joyce Cooling and Rio Connection (6/22), David Frishberg (7/13), Denny Zeitlin Trio (8/3), knockout Cecil Payne/Junior Cook Bopet (8/24), Full Faith and Credit Big Band celebrating its 15th anniversary (9/7). Beautiful outdoor setting. Dial (415) 967-9778 for directions.

San Francisco Symphony Pops announces Rosemary Clooney in a salute to Irving Berlin (7/19) and a Cotton Club Night starring Cab Calloway (8/1). Ticketmaster.

Learn how to become a 'Big Buddy'

The Buddy Program of the Monterey Peninsula, an agency that matches adult companions with children from single parent families, will conduct orientations the first Wednesday of every month. Orientations take place 7 to 9 p.m. at the Monterey Youth Center on Pearl Street (next to Dennis the Menace Park).

This is an opportunity for those interested in volunteering with the Buddy Program to learn more about the roles, responsibilities and rewards of being a "Big Buddy." For details, call 649-0276.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE

1. To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: DOROTHY M. HOLLIDAY, aka DOROTHY MAE HOLLIDAY.

A PETITION has been filed by LAWRENCE HOLLIDAY AND DAVID HOLLIDAY in the Superior Court of California, County of Monterey.

THE PETITION requests that Lawrence Holliday be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on June 29, 1990 at 9:30 a.m. in Probate Dept. located at 1200 Aguajito Road, Monterey, California 93940.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Attorney for petitioner: RICHARD D. GORMAN, GERSTL & GORMAN, INC., 33 Soledad Drive, Monterey, Ca 93940. Publication Date: May 31; June 7, 14, 1990. (PC545)

ROUNDUP

Mace training class set

More daylight hours mean more outdoor activities! Individuals away from the security of a locked home or auto can reduce their chances of becoming victims of criminal attack by carrying Mace.

The YWCA of the Monterey Peninsula and the Pacific Grove Police Department are jointly sponsoring a Mace Training Class from 6 to 8 p.m. on June 13. The class will be offered at the YWCA, 801 Lighthouse Ave., Monterey.

The fee is $23 for the license, and Mace can be purchased the night of the class for $14. Participants must be 18 or have parents permission. For more information, call the YWCA at 649-0834.

Foster care families needed

The Office of Community and Children's Services needs homes willing to share their families with children who need an alternative home — whether it be for six months or the whole year — while family reunification services are offered, or eventually a permanent home.

Almost every currently licensed foster home is filled, the office reports. For information about fostering or adopting a child, call 899-8061 or 755-4660.

Dutch, French films screened

The Monterey Institute International Film Series will present Spetters and Gervaise.

Paul Verhoeven directed the 1981 release from the Netherlands, Spetters. It will be screened in Dutch with subtitles Friday through Sunday, June 1-3. The film tells of three young men who dream of breaking into the world class motocross racing circuit. They meet a seductive young woman who pushes the boys, one by one, over the top toward the ultimate pain of self-discovery.

Gervaise is the Wednesday, June 6 film offering. Made in France in 1957, it presents Zola's tale of a young girl whose dreams of a happy home are cruelly destroyed in a classic study of the ill-effects of poverty on the mind and soul. It will be screened in French with subtitles.

Both films begin at 8:15 p.m. in S.F.B. Morse Auditorium at the Monterey Institute of International Studies, 440 Van Buren St., Monterey. Admission is $4 general, $3 for students and senior citizens. For information, call 626-1730.

Faire recruits craftspeople, vendors

Applications for arts, crafts and food both spaces are now available for the 1990 Monterey Bay Arts and Crafts Faire, which will take place Saturday and Sunday, June 30 and July 1, at the Custom House Plaza, located between Fisherman's Wharf and the Doubletree Mall on the waterfront in downtown Monterey.

The faire will coincide with the opening weekend of the county's largest attended cultural event, the Monterey Bay TheatreFest. Admission-free events include Jack and the Beanstalk, The Emperor's New Clothes, The Human Chess Game, The Music Master, The Swagging Soldier and The Forced Marriage, in addition to magician Roy Slater and juggler Chris Heimer.

The arts and crafts faire is open to all artistic mediums but is restricted to hand-made items with the artist present at the faire. No mass-produced items of any kind will be allowed. Deadline for entry is June 15.

Applications are now available and can be obtained by phoning the GroveMont Theater at 649-0340, Center Stage at 649-5561, or by writing Box 7174, Carmel, CA 93921.

Celtic music comes to GroveMont

The Musical Echoes duo will be joined by vocalist Margaret Faulkner and poet/storyteller Taelen Thomas for a Celtic Spring concert at the GroveMont Theater in New Monterey.

Musical Echoes is composed of Robin Keeler, who plays hammered dulcimer, and Amy Krupski, who plays Celtic harp.

The performance will begin at 8 p.m. Tuesday, June 5. Admission is $7 general and $5 for students, senior citizens and military. The GroveMont Theater Arts Center is at 320 Hoffman (at Lighthouse) in New Monterey. For reservations, call Center Stage Ticketing at 649-5561, or GroveMont at 649-6852.

MPC to host June tennis clinic

The Monterey Peninsula College women's tennis team, a member of the Intercollegiate Tennis Association, will benefit from a June 3 tennis clinic at the Monterey Hyatt. The "beginners to champions" clinic is co-sponsored by the Hyatt and Wilson's Sporting Goods.

Tennis pros will conduct classes from 9 a.m. to noon, with participants being divided into ability groups and rotating from pro to pro. Match play is scheduled for 1 to 3 p.m. Clinic participants will earn "funny money" that they can use during the afternoon auction of Wilson tennis accessories.

Entry fee for the clinic is $20. Tennis enthusiasts may call the MPC Physical Education Department at 646-4220, or Diane Smith, MPC Women's Tennis coach, at 646-4110.

Orchestra seeks musicians

Instrumentalists are invited to join the Pancultural Orchestra of the Defense Language Institute.

The orchestra is conducted by Theodore Gargiulo. Rehearsals take place 3 to 5 p.m. Sundays at Munakata Hall, Building 610, Presidio of Monterey.

Anyone interested in performing with this group is invited to call 372-6728 or 647-5110.

Answer to last week's puzzle

Sexual molestation survivors meet

A group is now forming for adult women who were molested as children. This therapy group is led by Judy Masliyah, M.A., M.F.C.C., and Kathy Willer, M.A., M.F.C.C. intern. The group will meet Thursday evenings.

For more information, call 626-8886.

Parents Without Partners meet

Parents Without Partners is a nation-wide social and support organization for the single parent. To join, you must be a parent and be single, and attend an orientation session. The Greater Monterey County Chapter has many adult and family activities monthly. For further information, call 757-3191.

Give extra bags to Goodwill

Goodwill Industries is putting out a call for paper and plastic bags for use in their stores in Monterey and Santa Cruz counties. Grocery bags will be received at Goodwill stores and Attended Donation Stations throughout the area.

Free AIDS testing available

If you think you've risked contracting AIDS from sexual contact or sharing of IV drug needles, a free test is available to see if you have been exposed to the virus. The test is anonymous; you do not have to give your name.

Daytime testing in the Monterey Peninsula area will be offered Mondays and Fridays from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Health Department, 1292 Olympia (in parking lot of Broadway and Noche Buena), in Seaside. Appointments are required. For information or appointment call 899-8100.

In Salinas, the test is offered 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays at the Health Department, 1270 Natividad Road. For an appointment, call 755-4512.

Evening testing is available 6 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays at the Salud para la Gente Clinic, 10 Alexander St., downtown between East Beach and East Lake streets, Watsonville. For an appointment, call 728-0222.

Tuition-free job training

The Carmel Unified School District is now accepting enrollment applications for adults in the cosmetology/hairstylist ROP Training Program.

New classes start every 30 days. For further information, call Chuck Phillips at 624-3544.

THIS IS EXCITING!

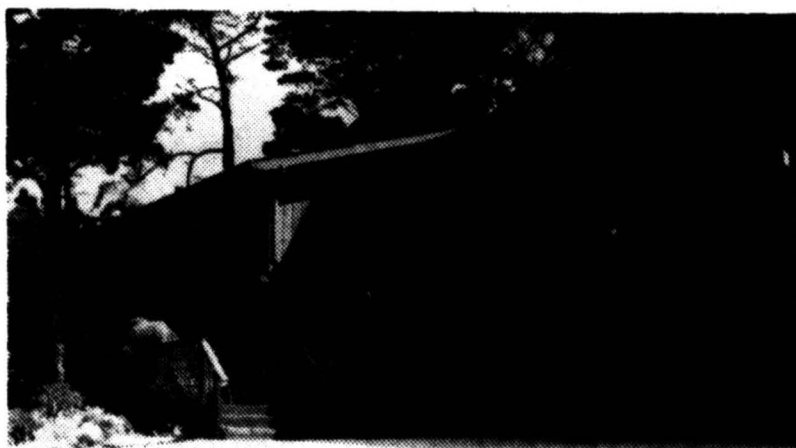

JUST LISTED in Carmel's coveted South-of-Ocean Avenue quadrant...offering everything one could hope for in Carmel — quality, location and lot size. The house itself was custom built for the present owner only nine years ago, and no luxuries were spared in the process. The exterior is beautiful clear heart redwood, and the lot (60'x100') has some gorgeous oak trees on it. Inside you'll find vaulted ceilings throughout, lots of skylights and French doors leading to patios and decks, a river rock fireplace in the step-down living room, a spacious master bedroom suite with fireplace, and, in general, all the amenities you never find in a "spec house." Viewing this home is a real treat. Please call for an appointment. $995,000.

BIG GARDEN FOR THE YOUNGSTERS

JUST LISTED in Carmel's Hatton Fields...a three-bedroom home on a large lot with plenty of garden for the youngsters to play in. The living room has a stone fireplace, and big windows afford pleasing garden outlooks, as well as ample interior light. Off the kitchen is an inviting family-dining room with a wood-burning stove. The master suite and bath are at the front of the house, along with a guest bedroom, and there's a semi-private guest suite at the rear. You'll want to update this house, and when you do it will be outstanding, because the potential is right there before your eyes! $435,000.

FAMILY HOME BY THE SEA

JUST LISTED in Yankee Point, five miles south of Carmel...a large and comfortable four bedroom home, well sited on a half-acre lot with mature pine trees and bordered by a wet-weather creek. Here you'll revel in glorious sunsets the year-round, and you'll enjoy watching the whales as they migrate south early in the year. The house itself has three comfortable living areas, each with a Carmel-stone fireplace. Vaulted ceilings upstairs give an air of spaciousness. Ownership of this fine home includes access to a private beach only steps away. Altogether the perfect home for you and your family! $659,000.

BRING HER TO LIFE!

JUST LISTED in Pebble Beach...a forgotten Spanish beauty is now quietly on the market, awaiting a call from someone who has the imagination and creativity to restore her one-time sparkle. We're speaking of a Spanish-style home with tile roof in a prime location of The Monterey Peninsula Country Club area, near the ocean and the golf course. A walled courtyard in front invites you into the spacious living room with its high vaulted ceiling and cheerful fireplace. To the left are dining room, cozy den, and kitchen, while to the right are a master bedroom and comfortable guest bedroom, each with bath. Upstairs is a guest suite with wonderful ocean view. By appointment only. $1,000,000. A Mitchell Group exclusive.

POTPOURRI PRESTIGE

PEBBLE BEACH CONDO

Filtered bay, ocean and city lights views for a sensational 2 bedroom, 2 bath home with chic wallpapers and crown molding, built-in cabinetry, wet bar, deck and fireplace in the living room, and a huge master suite with walk in closet and dressing area. Previously enjoyed as only an occasional residence, this special home is almost brand new! Offered at $255,000.

JACKS PEAK ELEGANCE

A gated entry previews this lavish, estate-calibre home. You'll discover granite countertops and hardwood floors in the center-island kitchen. The living and dining rooms are warmed by a dramatic fireplace and plush carpeting, and feature glass doors which lead to expansive decking. The master suite includes a woodburning stove, and an amazing bath of marble with steeping tub plus oversized shower. Additionally, there are 4 more bedrooms, family room, exercise room, wine cellar, and a garden atrium. Our exclusive at $950,000.

SOUTHWESTERN FLAIR IN CARMEL!

Enter the walled courtyard entry, and you'll be greeted by the soft scent of lemon blossoms and exotic bird-of-paradise in bloom — the sunny southern exposure is ideal in this wonderful 3 bedroom, 2 bath family home. The kitchen has been recently remodeled to include new oak cabinetry, butcher-block breakfast bar plus dining area and glass doors to the sheltered patio. Living room includes double entry doors, fireplace and bookshelves. There's a double garage on the large corner lot, and walk-to-everything convenience from the serene, country location. $329,000.

CARMEL FAMILY HOME!

All the charm of Old Carmel, with the perfect remodel — an elegant new master suite with spa/bath two additional bedrooms, beautifully rebuilt kitchen, window seats and bays, much open beam. Traditional board-and-bat-exterior with natural, clear heart redwood. Ideal location is just 3 blocks to the Post Office and a short walk to the beach from a serene, country lane. Reduced to $689,000.

Seniors receive free health checks

Free health check-ups for older adults are offered by the SCANS (Senior Citizen and Nursing Services) program of the Monterey County Health Department. Persons over age 55 are eligible.

Appointments are required for the screenings, which are offered in Carmel at the Presbyterian Church; in Pacific Grove at the community center, 515 Junipero and at the Sally Judd Griffin Senior Center, 700 Jewell Ave., in New Monterey at the New Monterey Neighborhood Center.

To schedule an appointment, call 899-8100.

Suicide Prevention seeks volunteers

Volunteers are needed to staff the crisis lines of the Suicide Prevention and Crisis Center of Monterey and San Benito counties.

Individuals who are calm, competent, supportive listeners will be trained in a 40-hour program. Orientation for the next session will begin at 7 p.m. Monday, June 4, in both Monterey and Salinas.

Volunteers are asked to donate a four hour shift per week to the center for a period of one year.

Interested individuals should call the office line, 375-6966, or 424-0902, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Jim Russell school: an arena to learn safety

The word is out that Jim Russell Racing Drivers School is more than a place to learn how to drive a car fast — it's an arena to learn safe driving.

Long known as a venue for those desiring the thrill of driving $20,000 Formula cars around the track at Laguna Seca, Jim Russell's has now caught on with the corporate world.

Many companies, such as Apple Computer and Seagram's, are using the school as an incentive program for employees.

Other concerns, such as UPS, which employs many drivers for its fleet of trucks and autos, have realized that it pays to teach drivers the fine art of maneuvering a car.

The school has now initiated a sedan driving school, using other than Formula cars. Classes concentrate on issues such as accident avoidance and teenage driving.

Several police departments are also taking advantage of the Jim Russell School, taking classes in hot pursuit and safe driving.

The Jim Russell School offers three levels of driving, depending on a driver's skill, from beginning to advanced.

Classes meet from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Laguna Seca for three-day sessions. Phone 372-7223.

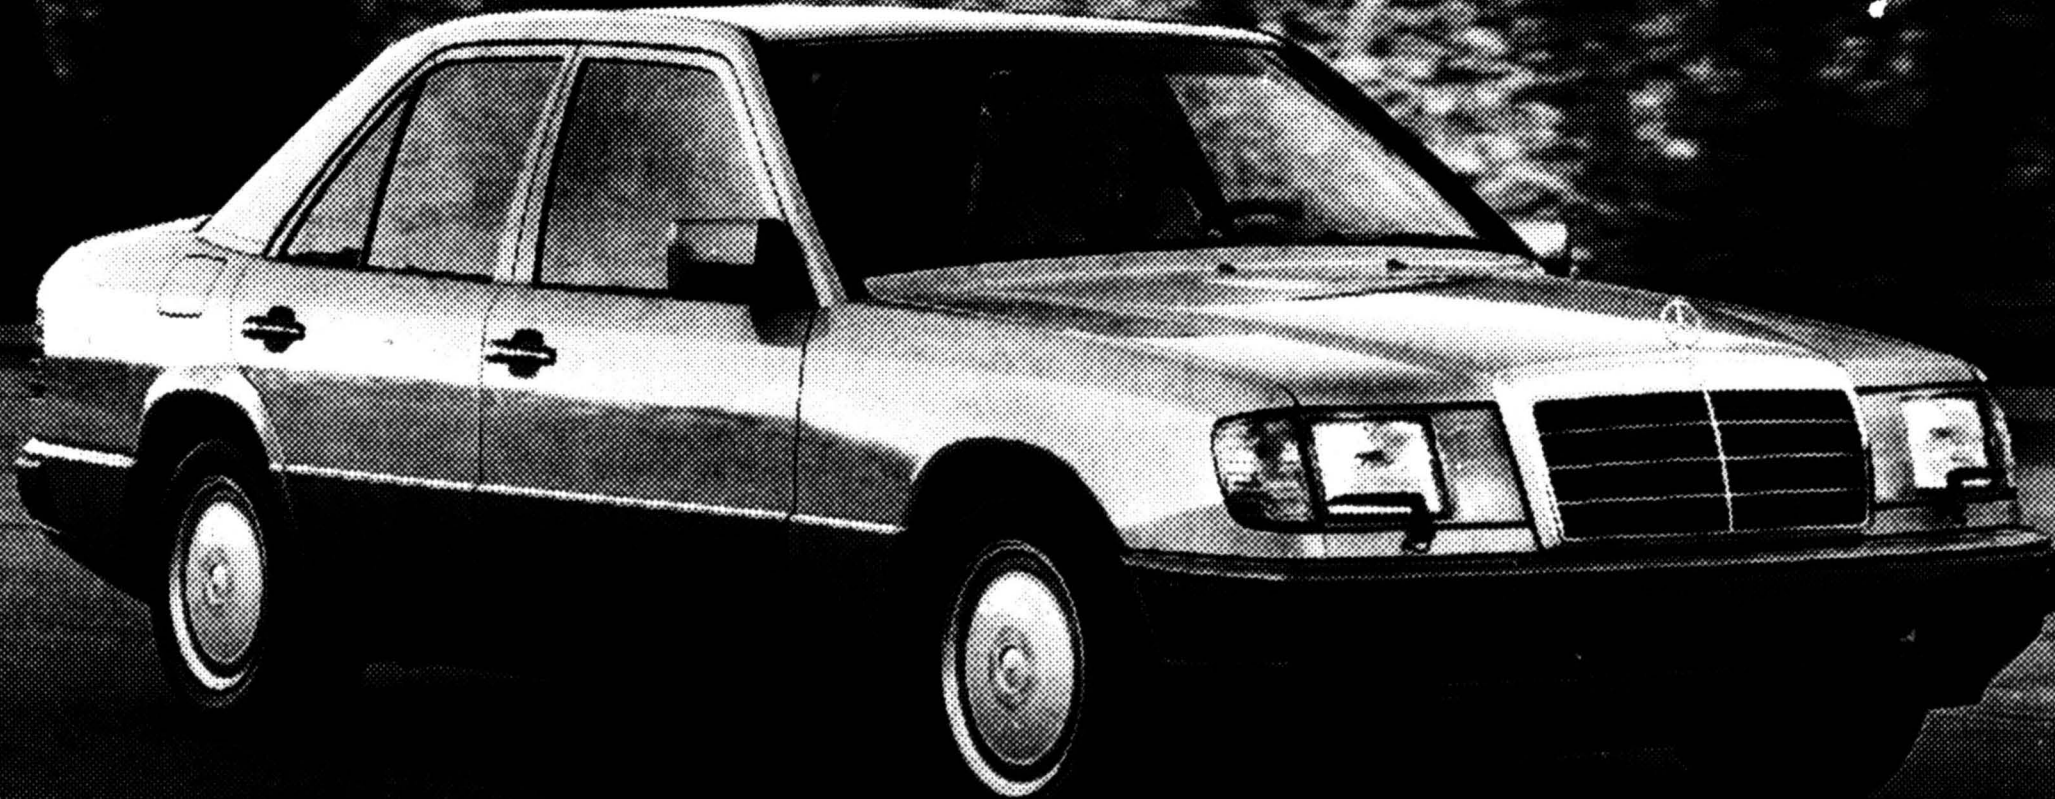

AN ARENA to learn safe driving, the Jim Russell Racing Drivers School teaches participants how to maneuver in the fast lane.

Lessons are offered in $20,000 Formula cars on the twisting turns of Laguna Seca Raceway. The Jim Russell School offers three levels of instruction, depending on a driver's skill. For information, call 372-7223. (Wei Chang photo).

DON'T LET the Dog Days of Summer get you, or your car, down. Mike, Jim and Scott of Monterey Radiator offer the largest inventory of radiators on the Central Coast. And they have the expertise to service your vehicle with precision. For an appointment, call 899-4101. (Wei Chang photo).

Monterey Radiator has cooled engines since 1946

Even though the peninsula offers natural air conditioning during the summer months, the Monterey Bay Area still has its Dog Days when tempers flare and radiators boil.

When your radiator heats up and drags your temper with it, stop into Monterey Radiator, serving the region since 1946.

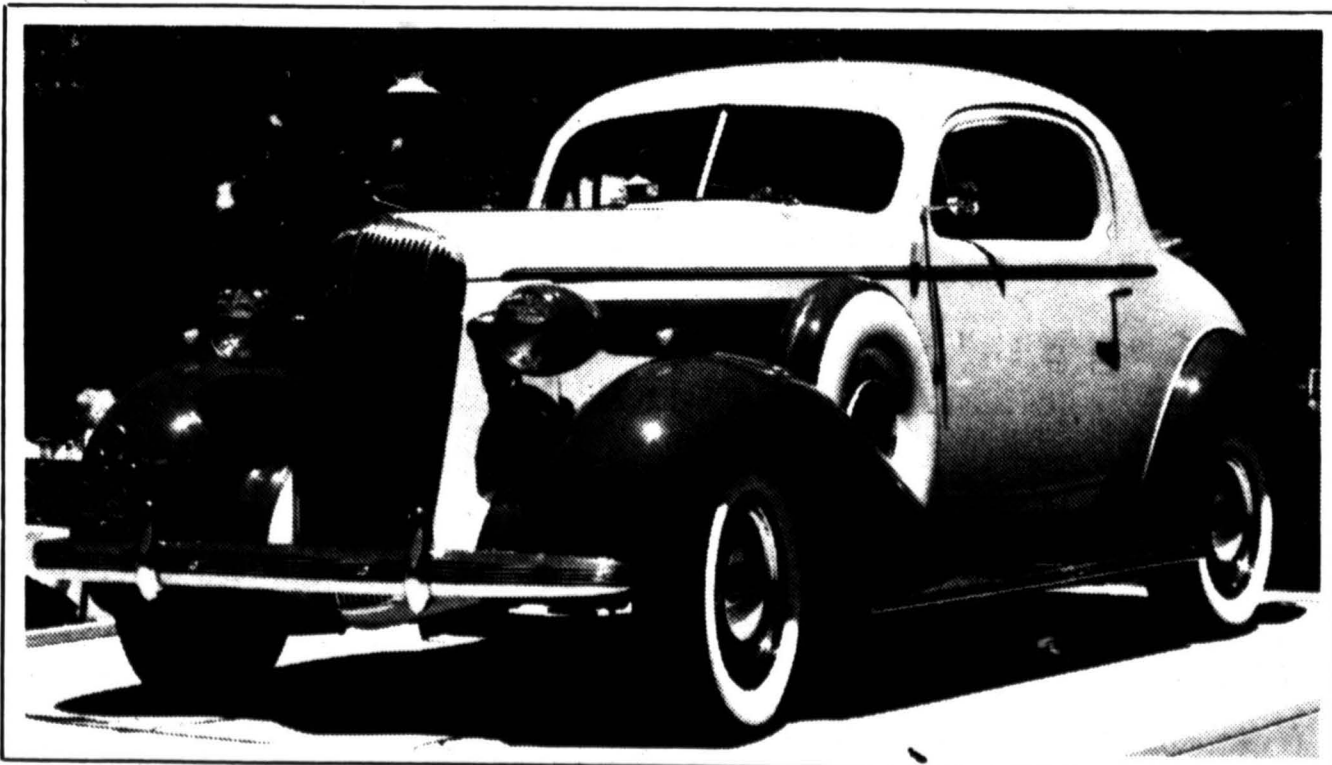

"We've got the largest inventory on the Central Coast," says owner Jim Ward, referring to the 350-plus radiators in stock. "And we can order almost everything."

Offering one-day service, Monterey Radiator services both domestic and imported cars.

Also, if it's your air conditioning system

that's on the fritz, Monterey Radiator offers some of the finest workmanship around in that department.

Monterey Radiator is open from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays. The store is located at 1624B Del Monte Blvd. in Seaside. Phone 899-4101.

Gunter-Madsen gives damaged cars a new life

There's nothing quite as unpleasant as hearing the crunch of your auto's body in a fender-bender accident, but many times that's just the beginning of your troubles.

That's where Gunter-Madsen Auto Body puts their extensive knowledge and experience to work for you, whether it's major body work or being a liaison between you and your insurance adjustor.

"Our ultimate goal is to make the best of a bad situation — we try to make it as convenient to the customer as possible. Our goal is happy customers," says Myra Souza, whose husband Richard and his partner Andy Yamada have been running the business for several years, taking over from founders Jack Gunter and Gordon Madsen, who started the business back in 1949.

Gunter-Madsen specializes in heavy collision — if you think your car is a lost cause, think again. They're stocked with the latest in auto body repair and framestraightening equipment, including the Blackhawk Bench dedicated measuring system that can put you car back to factory specifications.

"It's as close to the factory as you can possibly get," Myra Souza says about Gunter-Madsen's start-to-finish work.

They can also serve as a go-between between you and your insurance company, because let's face it, all that automotive terminology and paperwork can confuse even the most informed consumer. They can even set you up with a rental car while your car is being worked on.

Gunter-Madsen is located at 1231 Del Monte Ave. in Monterey and they're open from 7 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday (closed Saturday and Sunday).

For an appointment or more information call 375-2497. They also have a FAX number to handle all that paperwork: 375-5094.

Detail owners Evan Dick and Steven Wagner and a member of their crew will come to your home or office and make your car look new — inside and out.

Using only three to five gallons of water — which comes from a 110-gallon reservoir in its van — Bay Mobile Detail specializes in custom detail and paint sealing, which makes your car look brighter than even a thorough waxing.

"Our main goal is to serve busy people who don't have time to take their cars somewhere to be washed," says Dick. "We provide top-quality work at your convenience."

Dick and Wagner will also service your car at their Pacific Grove shop, if that's to your liking.

Offering complete detailing from chrome polishing and vinyl restoration to tire cleaning and interior work, Bay Mobile Detail also provides engine cleaning, fabric stain guard and undercoating.

And now, Bay Mobile Detail has stepped up its house-washing service. The company will cleanse the exterior of your home and roof and make it shine almost as much as with a new paint job, at a fraction of the cost.

For an appointment or free estimate call 625-1452, 373-1700 or, from Salinas, 754-4454.

BAY MOBILE Detail co-owner Evan Dick puts a mirror-like gloss on this handsome Ferrari. He's only a phone call away! Bay Mobile

Competence the hallmark of Silver Star Motors

German-born Peter Kracht, owner of Silver Star Motors, Inc. since its beginning 16 years ago, knows Mercedes Benz better than most people on the peninsula.

"I have studied everything about this quality automobile. Many people call me about advice and performance factors," says Kracht, who prides himself in having an immaculate shop and competent, certified technicians.

"We do everything, including engine overhauls and take great satisfaction in keeping the older models running — dealerships often do not want to work on them," explains Kracht. "You have to sometimes be resourceful to find certain parts — it takes a little ingenuity."

Kracht knows that there are plenty of repair shops out there and he tries to provide the best quality service.

"To be competitive you must go that extra step," he says, adding, "We now provide a customer reminder and follow-up mailing service and also have a complete detail shop as well as an auto rental agency on the premises. Customer satisfaction is most important to us, that's why friendly, competent and personalized service is our top priority." Silver Star Motors, an

AAA-certified facility, is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and is located at 2200 Del Monte Ave. Phone 375-3500 for ser-

Nissan Maxima SE: pulse-pounding performer

By MAC McDONALD

Remember when the family car meant the ever-reliable station wagon, functional but not very exciting, and the sports car was all power and no grace?

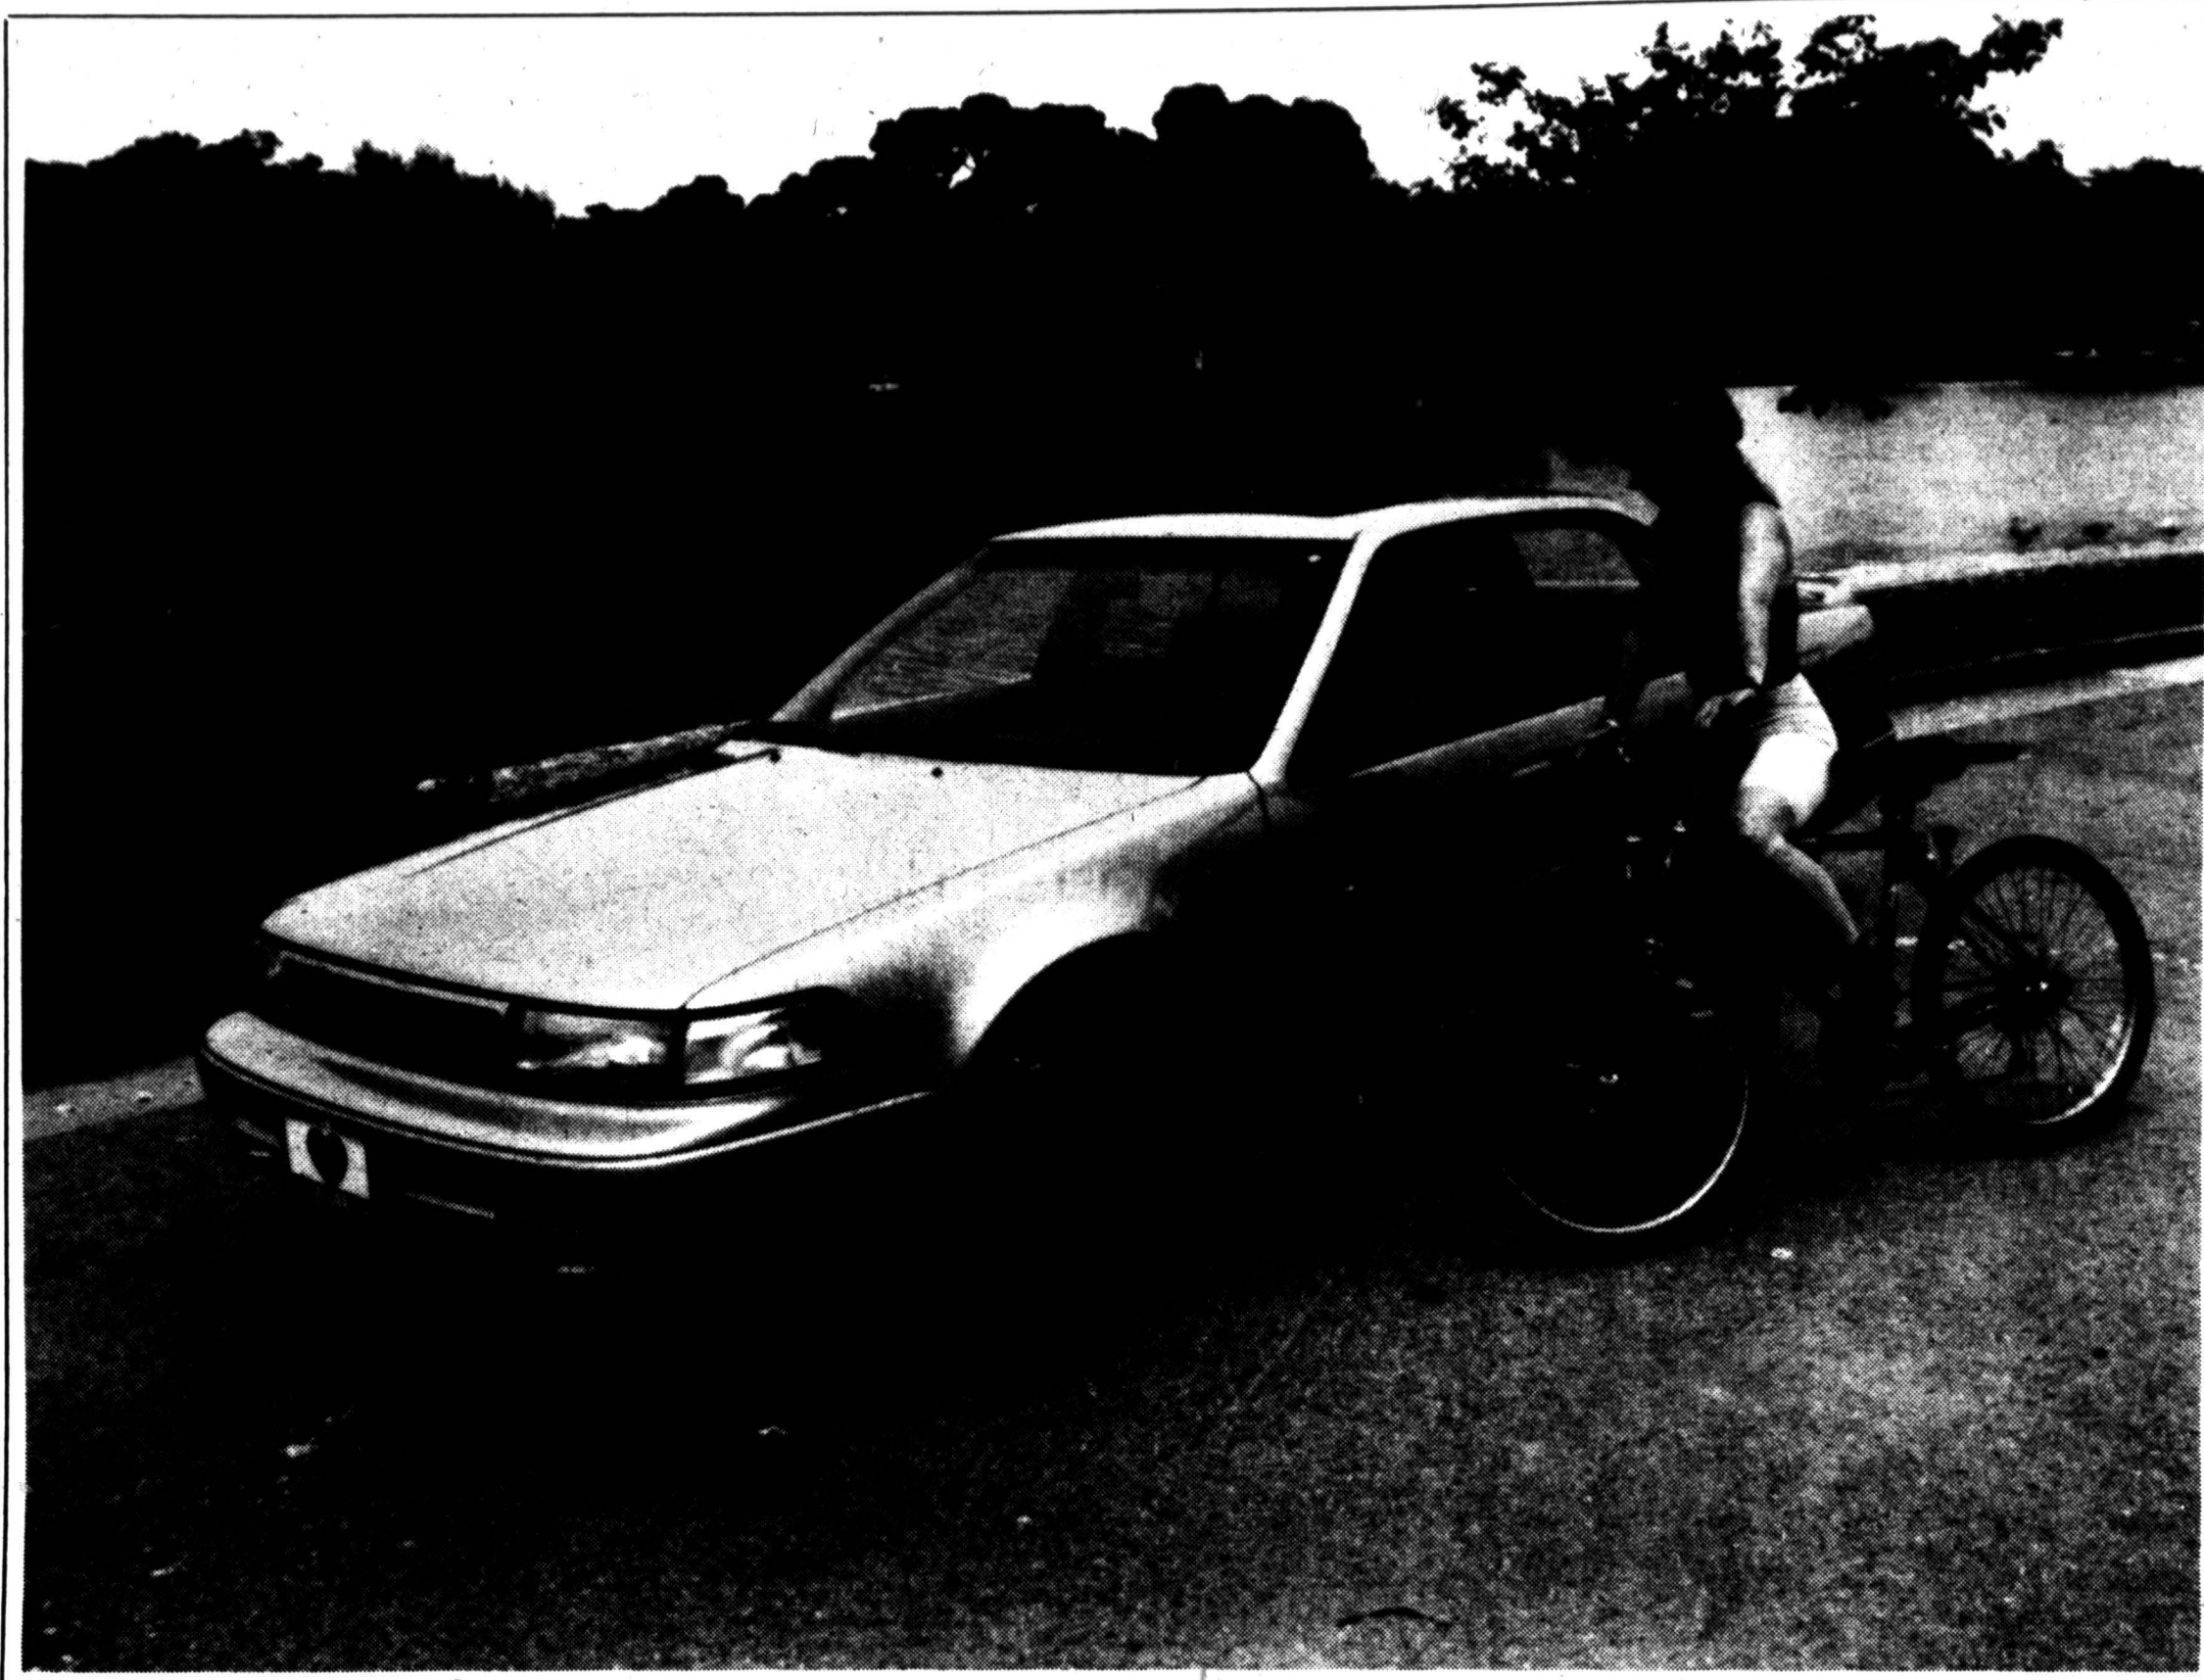

The demands and needs of the '90s lifestyle often call for the attributes of a family car — practicality and reliability — as well as those of a sports car — speed and excitement.

But does that mean you have to end up with a clumsy cross-pollinated hybrid, half station wagon, half sports car, with the attributes of both but also their drawbacks?

Well Nissan feels they have the answer to those who have family responsibilities but aren't ready to sacrifice performance in their "Four-Door Sports Car," the Nissan Maxima. It appears to be the right answer for those who want the best of both worlds.

But the Maxima is more than just a compromise, which connotes making concessions. There are no concessions when it comes to the Maxima.

You want practicality — you've got it. The Maxima seats five adults quite comfortably; the front-wheel drive gives the three adults in back plenty of leg and head room. And the 14.5-cubic-foot trunk is

IS THERE such a thing as a family car that delivers pulse-pounding performance?

Nissan's solution is its sporty and speedy Nissan Maxima SE, a four-door sports car that

roomy enough to stash all that luggage Mom and Dad are carrying when they drop in for a visit from the East Coast.

You want looks? The smooth aerodynamic lines of the Maxima (there are two models, the luxury-oriented GXE and the performance-oriented SE), recalls both European design and current Japanese design elements.

But what about power and speed, you ask? The heart of the Maxima is the aggressive 3.0-liter Nissan V6 powerplant that cranks out a hefty 160 horsepower — brethren to the engines that power the Nissan 300 ZX and Pathfinder. The engine itself puts the Maxima in the high-performance category, but Nissan has added performance touches such as MacPherson struts, coil springs, and stabilizer bars front and rear, power-assisted rack and pinion steering, beefy 15-inch cast alloy wheels and five-speed manual overdrive or electronically controlled four-speed automatic.

The engine is equipped with innovations such as an advanced dual-plenum variable intake manifold, a computer-controlled knock sensor, and an adaptive-control electronic ignition system, things that may not mean much to the average driver until they step on the accelerator and find themselves launched back into the seat and in the middle of traffic faster and easier than they realized.

But the proof is in the pudding as they say, and all the good looks and fancy terminology don't mean a whit unless the beast can produce what it promises. And it promises a lot.

I was given an opportunity one weekend to prove Nissan either right or wrong: can a four-door family car also offer heart-pounding performance? The answer: you bet.

The first thing you notice after climbing into the driver's seat is that everything fits like a glove. No controls are either too far out of reach or too close for comfort. Everything seems so smooth and form fitting, even the power window and door lock switches on the driver's door panel — they're angled to fit the angle of the hand and have rounded, raised surfaces so you can feel the switches without taking your eyes off the road. The smallish instrument panel is clear and concise, featuring reverse illumination analog gauges — black on white during the day, white on black when you turn your lights on at night. Climate and stereo controls are within easy reach, as is the power sunroof. No yoga training needed here to turn on the heater or turn up The Stones.

Easily the most impressive thing about the Maxima is its performance. The sportier SE that I tested flat-out moved. But it did so in such a smooth and effortless manner that it was almost scary. The automatic shifting is so subtle as to be almost unnoticeable. (Both the SE and GXE are equipped with a Power/Comfort shifting option — in the Power mode gear changes are more abrupt, but somehow reassuring, like you're more in control; the Comfort mode makes it feel like there's no shifting being done at all.)

By the way, a word of warning: pay close attention to the speedo. Several times I found myself just merrily cruising along only to find the needle hovering between 75 and 85 ("But officer, I just couldn't help it"). A radar detector would probably be a good investment for any new Maxima owner.

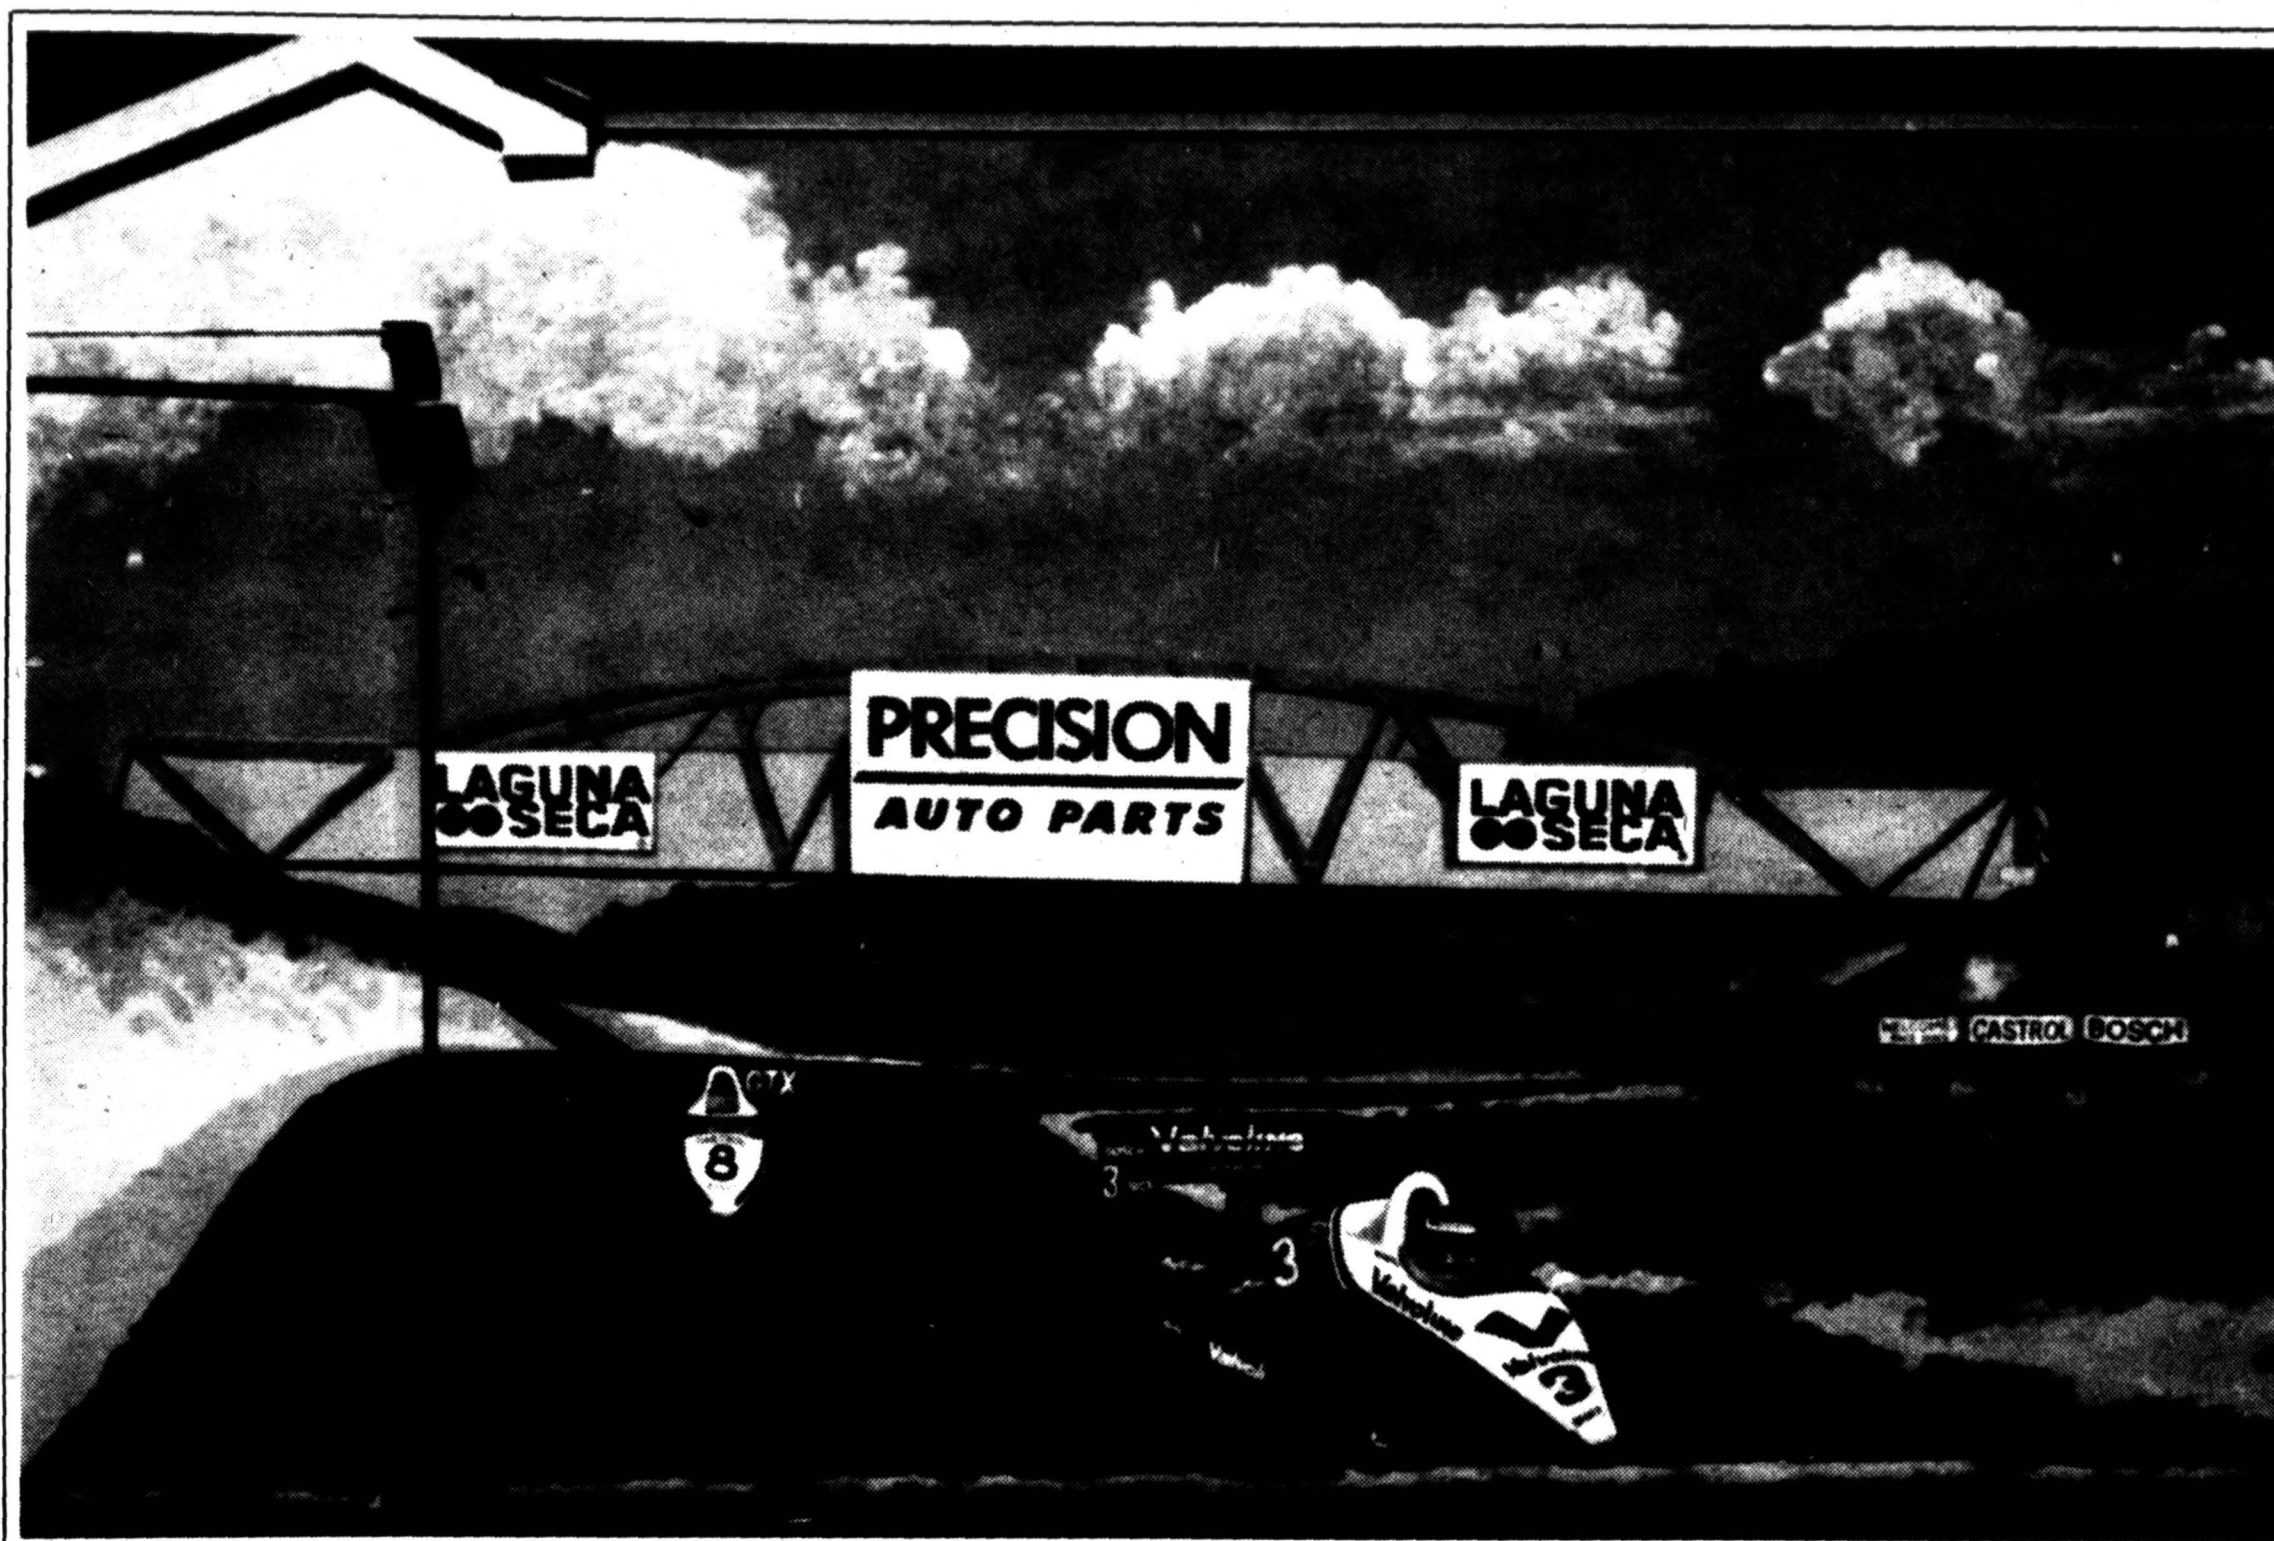

Taking the Maxima SE over Highway 17 between Santa Cruz and San Jose was an adventure in cornering, however, and revealed what may be its only shortcoming. Even with the SE's sturdier suspension (compared to the GXE), there was a lot of softness and give in tight corners. The performance SE should call for even less body roll than the GXE, but the differences were negligible. All in all though, the SE seemed to be doing just as well or better in the corners as the BMW having its problems just ahead of me.

On straightaways and long stretches of freeway the Maxima was without peer — its smooth power and responsiveness, even at high speeds, was exhilarating. At 55 the Maxima is just getting going; at 65 it's starting to feel its oats; beyond that it's

Precision Auto Parts boasts an extensive inventory

It's easy to spot Precision Auto Parts. Just look for the colorful mural spread across one entire wall on the outside of the building.

Portraying Turn No. 7 at Laguna Seca Raceway, local muralist Chris Gillis has brought to life the thrill and excitement of Indy car racing.

Precision Auto Parts, serving the area for 17 years, has by far the largest inventory of foreign car parts on the peninsula.

Co-owner Bob Crannell, who owns the store with Rich Thompson, says he attributes much of Precision's growth to the competence of its employees.

"They help people diagnose the problems in their cars — that's why we do so well," says Crannell.

Precision also carries a complete inventory of domestic and car and truck parts.

Precision Auto Parts is open Monday through Saturday and is located at 435 Washington St. in Monterey. Phone 373-7781.

TURN SEVEN at Laguna Seca Raceway is depicted on the mural that covers one wall of Precision Auto Parts. The mural is your cue to

AUTO GUIDE 90

Jim's Detailing will protect your investment

At Jim's Detailing they don't want to think of what they do as merely pampering your automobile, but protecting your investment.

The average person now keeps his car longer — seven to eight years, compared to the two to three years 10 or 15 years ago. With that in mind, it's imperative that the car is well cared for.

"When you keep it that long, when it comes time to trade it in or sell it, you just have to take care of the car, especially in this area close to the ocean," says owner Jim Kemp.

With that in mind Jim's Detailing offers everything the car owner could need when it comes to preserving that investment, whether it's something as simple, but necessary, as a wash and wax, or the whole ball of wax as it were — a complete detailing job.

A full-on detailing job starts out in one of Jim's four bays, where a complete handwash is conducted from stem to stern. Next comes one of the detailing bays, in which everything is hand cleaned, from vinyl and rubber hoses in the engine compartment to the trim on the dashboard. Then comes two polish applications to remove any oxidation and fine scratches, then a hand rub with polish that puts the oils back into the finish and gives the car a smooth, glistening sheen. That's all topped off with a hand-applied (everything here is done by hand), Carnuba paste wax to seal and protect that shine.

There are at least two people and sometimes as many as five that take on an auto armed with the tools of the trade: soft towels, toothbrushes, Q-tips, and Popsicle sticks to get into those hard to reach nooks and crannies.

"Basically it looks like a new car again," Kemp says proudly, and, as it turns out, quite accurately.

Finally, the detailer does a little maneuver that's called "walking the vehicle," a last-minute quality control check to see that nothing was missed.

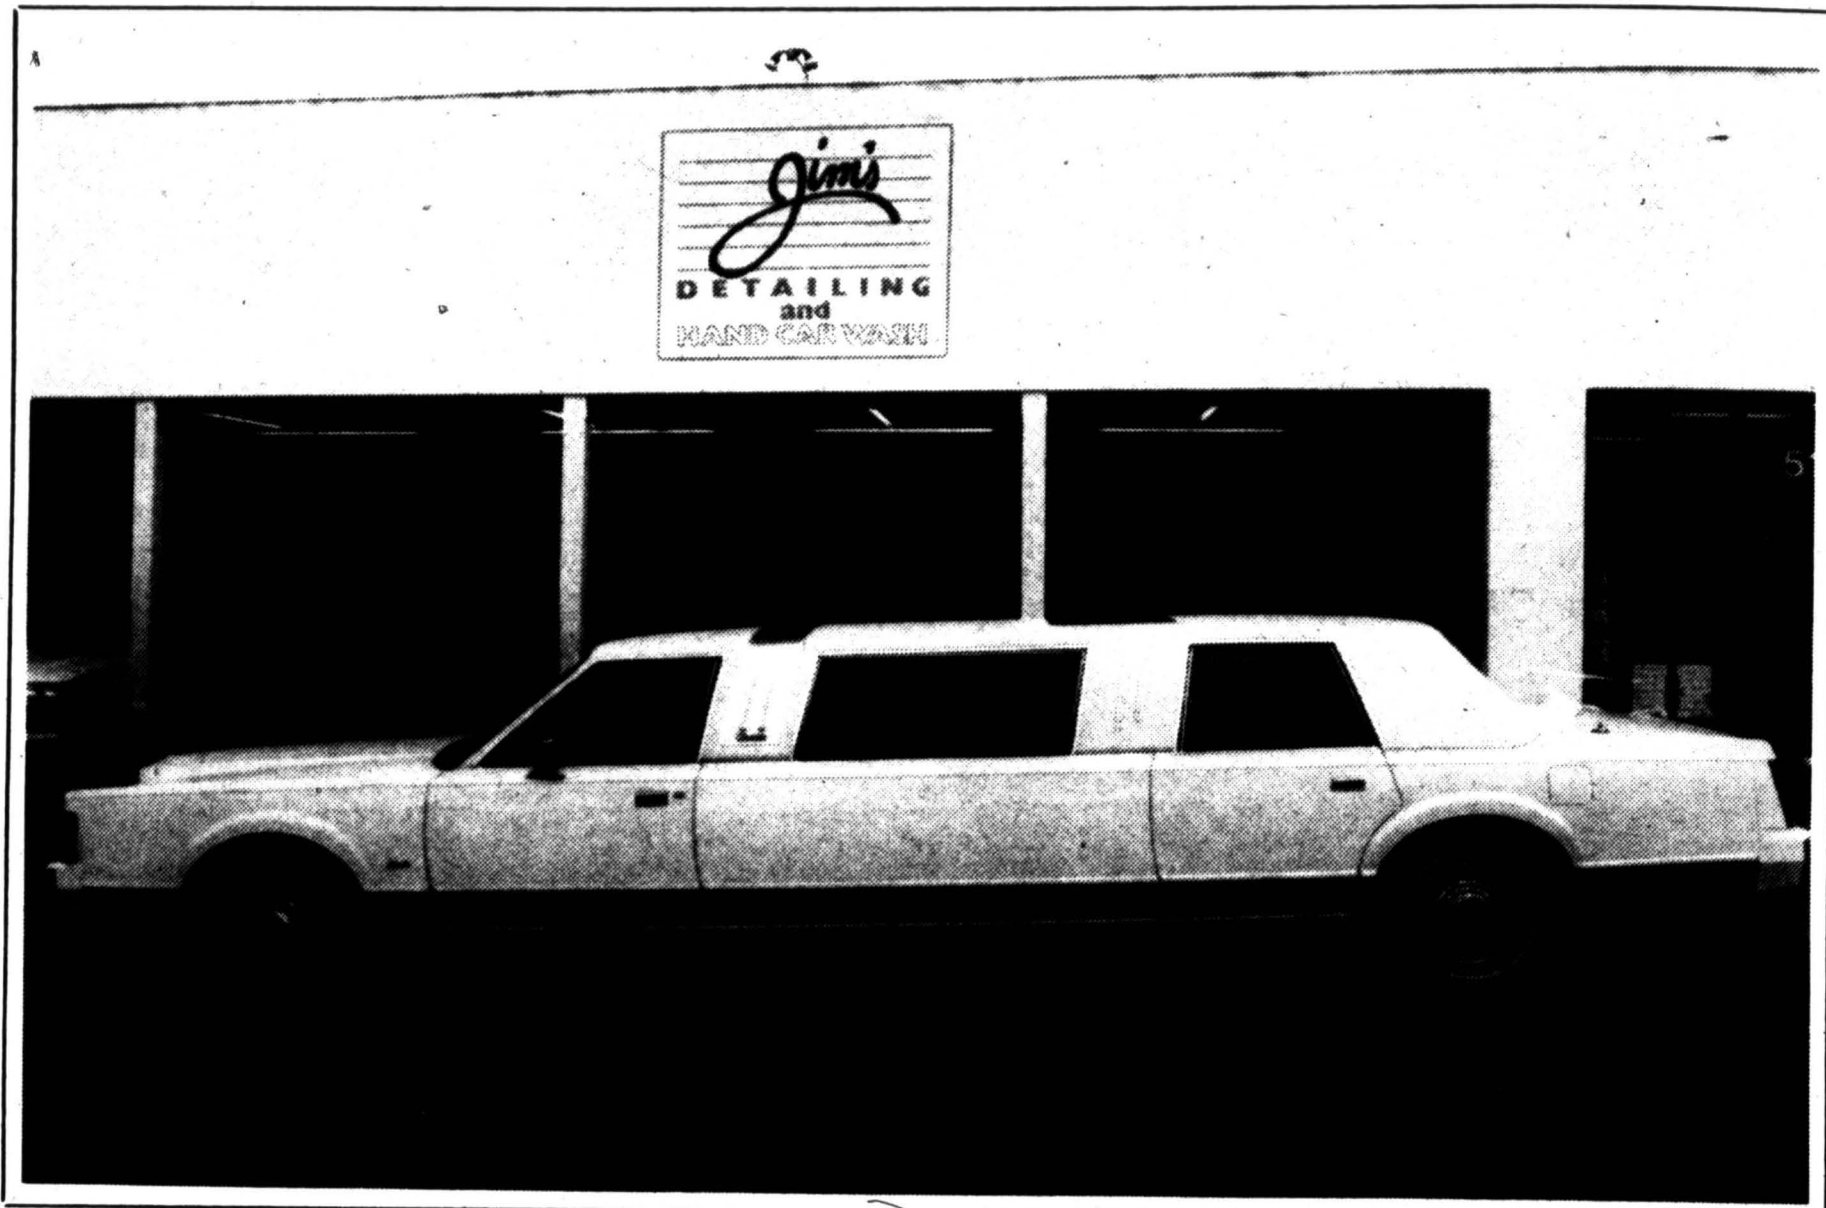

And Jim's Detailing not only does it all for you, they can help the do-it-yourselfer do it right — they offer a complete line of detailing supplies and accessories, from cleaning and polishing products to key chains and license plate holders.

Call for an appointment from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and until 4 p.m. Saturday. Jim's Detailing is located at 510 Fremont Blvd. in Monterey near Lake El Estero. Call them at 375-5733.

PROTECT YOUR investment with the help of Jim's Detailing. Jim's offers everything the car owner could need when it comes to preserving that investment, from a simple wash and wax, to a complete detailing job.

Classic Car Auction helps Meals on Wheels

Those looking for a good chance to purchase exotic cars, while at the same time helping fund Meals on Wheels of the Monterey Peninsula, should check out this year's Classic Car Auction.

Coinciding with the Monterey Concours d'Elegance, which also benefits Meals on Wheels, the Classic Car Auction will take place from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sunday, June 17, at the Monterey Fairgrounds.

Last year's Classic Car Auction raised $10,000 for the charitable organization which brings meals to homebound people.

One-third of this year's profits will go to the benevolent organization, says Gerry Baxter, who has been involved in the exotic car business for 30 years.

Baxter adds that about 120 cars are slated to be bid upon this year, at the rate of about 20 an hour.

This year's selection includes a mixture of exotic, high-performance, domestic, foreign and special-interest autos. Prices range from $10,000 to $100,000.

A sampling includes a '59 Cadillac limo, '79 Ferrari 308 GTS, '75 Maserati Merak, '41 Mercury fully restored woody and '60 Cadillac convertible.

The auction will be run by a team of professional, licensed and bonded auctioneers.

For further information call 373-1661.

A 30-YEAR veteran of the exotic car business, Gerry Baxter will again oversee operations during the Classic Car Auction, coinciding with this year's Monterey Concours d'Elegance. The 1990 selection includes a mixture of exotic, high-performance, domestic, foreign and special-interest autos. Prices range from $10,000 to $100,000. For details, call 373-1661. (Wei Chang photo).

It pays to maintain

Springtime automobile checkups were once as seasonal a tradition as spring cleaning.

While the advent of modern technology enables cars to undergo seasonal changes with barely a rumble in the engine, regular car tune-ups are still essential to maintain a smooth-running vehicle.

A highly engineered, finely-tuned automobile hot off the assembly line today needs regular checkups just as a less sophisticated vehicle did 30 years ago. What better time than springtime? Along with cleaning out your closets this season, use that spring fever-fueled energy to peek under the hood of your car.

Making spring your regular maintenance period is one car care measure recommended by Chevron automobile specialist, Mark Souther who explains, "motorists can help prevent expensive damage to their cars by conducting regular maintenance inspections."

Take the following measures to ensure that your automobile cruises through spring to summer and many seasons beyond:

- Tires — Make sure tire pressure is correct and tire tread up to par for both safety and maximum fuel efficiency. Also, check your tires for proper alignment — a long highway trip with misaligned tires can destroy a new pair of radials.

- Hoses — Replace cracked, frayed or shiny-looking fan belts. Tighten a belt that "gives" more than one-eighth of an inch. Replace radiator hoses if cracked or bulging.

- Fuel — With today's sophisticated engines, the proper gasoline can mean the difference between an engine with driveability problems such as hesitation and stalling, and one that hums as it is supposed to. Souther notes that "the best way for a customer to avoid driveability problems is to use a gasoline with proven deposit control additives."

- Transmission, Brake & Power Steering Fluid — Check dipstick or fluid level on all fluids. If transmission fluid smells burnt or has particles in it, it should be replaced even if you haven't reached the recommended change interval.

- Coolant — Spring is a good time to do your annual coolant change and flush the cooling system. Car trips in hot temperatures this sum-

Monterey Concoors charts transportation history

The Fifth Annual Monterey Concoors d'Elegance is a one-of-a-kind event featuring the "History of Transportation." The event is set Saturday and Sunday, June 16-17, at the Monterey Fairgrounds.

This automotive celebration highlights carriages (both driven and unhorsed), motor cars ranging from the original horseless carriages to the elegant classics and exciting sports cars.

Also on display will be a retrospective of the Lincoln marque, antique bicycles, antique motorcycles, farm vehicles, and even fire engines.

Drawing car and horse enthusiasts alike to the Monterey Peninsula, the Monterey Concoors d'Elegance will make this Father's Day weekend one to remember on California's Central Coast.

The Concoors Cars, Carriage and Side-Saddle Competition is set for Saturday, June 16, and a Classic Vehicle Auction is set for Sunday, June 17. The Monterey Fairgrounds are set in the heart of the Monterey Peninsula, with easy access just off Highways 1 and 68.

The Concoors combines three exciting events in one fun-filled weekend. Starting the weekend competition is the judging of the classic cars that includes 25 different classifications, and the carriage competition that includes pleasure driving, side saddle and unhorsed classifications, followed by judging.

Throughout the day, visitors will be entertained with music from the Swing Era, food and exhibits.

Classic Imports Auction will conduct an auction featuring antiques, classics and sports cars, and conclude the weekend with a Sunday filled with excitement as hundreds of cars selling for thousands of dollars are auctioned off by the premier auctioneer, Frank Bizzarro.

More than just a Concoors, this two-day event will feature a dinner-dance reminiscent of the gala events of the Swing Era at the Hyatt Regency Monterey, an opportunity to be a part of the exclusive Patron's Circle featuring a champagne lunch and center stage seating, entertainment throughout the weekend and to top it off, a Father's Day Champagne Brunch featuring omelettes cooked to order, baron of beef, country ham, fresh fruit and juices and much more!

The Monterey Concoors d'Elegance is a benefit for the Monterey Peninsula Meals on Wheels, with all proceeds being donated to this organization.

Hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m.

to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Day or weekend passes will be available for children and adults.

For general information or ticket information, contact Bonnie Adams, Monterey Concoors d'Elegance, 2600 Garden Road, No. 208; Monterey, CA 93940, or call 649-6544.

THIS 1941 Cadillac Club Coupe took third place in the Class E Division at last year's Monterey Concoors d'Elegance. The event, which returns this year on Saturday and Sunday, June 16-17, benefits Meals on Wheels of the Monterey Peninsula, an agency of the United Way.

Salinas Valley Ford showcases milestone autos

Salinas Valley Ford has ushered in the decade with the all-new 1991 Ford Escort.

The 1991-model Ford Escort hatchbacks and station wagons are the most significant new cars from Ford Motor Co. in at least two decades.

Featuring a fresh, contemporary design with a lower cowl and belt that provide more glass area
and improved visibility, the new Escorts offer flip-out quarter windows on two-door hatchback models, remote-control outside mirror and "A" mounted antenna.

"The 1991 Escort is much more than a new car, it represents an entirely new way of doing business," says Thomas Wagner, Ford Motor Co.
president, referring to the company's renewed commitment to quality, manufacturing and design.

The new 1.9 liter engine incorporates numerous improvements aimed at enhancing its performance feel, drive-ability and efficiency.

A five-speed manual transaxle is standard on all models.

"The 1991 Escort is truly customer-driven," says Wagner. "One of the most thoroughly researched cars in Ford's history;

it offers new-car buyers
the quality and value they demand."

Standard equipment features on the 1991-model Escort include side window demisters, electronic engine controls and ignition, tinted glass, inside hood release, rack-andpinion steering and four-wheel independent suspension.

Monterey Federal Credit Union: new car source

One of the most confusing, apprehensive and palm-sweating times for adults can be purchasing a new car.

What will I get? What's the best deal? Will I get taken to the cleaners? Am I really ready for this financial commitment? What if I go into sticker shock? And geez, what if I get one of those salesmen who's like a pit-bull, one that just won't let go until you walk out of the showroom with a new car?

Not only that, there's comparison shopping to do, and financing and insurance to think of. It's enough to drive a sane person to distraction.

But this is the '90s and there is something new on the horizon that can take the dread out of buying a car once and for all.

"There is an alternative and one place it exists is the Monterey Federal Credit Union," says Ross Ramsey, vice president of marketing for MFCU. "The credit union is in the automotive business."

Before you think that Ross has taken leave of his senses, consider this: major auto manufacturers and their dealers have been offering consumers auto financing for several years now, some at ridiculously low interest rates. That has cut into the market share of the financial institutions.

Credit unions, saying fair is fair, decided to go on the offensive and get into the auto business themselves.

"We're trying to recapture lost markets here," Ramsey says. "Dealerships have taken away our business — it's our bread and butter (auto financing). The only way to compete is to go head to head with the auto industry."

Monterey Federal Credit Union has done this by joining forces with Autoland, California's largest automobile purchasing agency, which buys thousands of vehicles at volume prices, similar to large car rental agencies.

"Now it's possible to visit the credit union, shop for a car, arrange for financing and have it delivered there, without visiting a dealership," says Ramsey.

Since, unlike a dealership, the credit union has no stake in what kind of car you buy — they're there for the financing — there are no pressure tactics and no profit motive. "Everything's up front with us," remarks Ramsey.

Autoland also doesn't add dealer prep charges; the vehicles come fully prepped, serviced and detailed with all manufacturer's new car warranties in effect. All factory options on domestic vehicles are available at cost and after-market products can be arranged at low group rates.

Virtually any domestic or imported make or model currently available in California is available through Autoland and it's as easy as 1-2-3.

1. You call for an appointment and tell the advisor what car you want.

2. At the appointment, you're told the exact price and availability. There's no need to haggle. You can place your order with a small refundable deposit.

3. You pick up your car at the credit union. It can't get any simpler. "We're trying to steer people to make a smart consumer decision, whether they go to a dealer or come to us," says Ramsey.

The beauty of the credit union is that if you prefer to go to a dealership, you can still arrange financing through the credit union.

The Monterey Federal

Credit Union's Autoland is located at the corner of Franklin and Figueroa in Monterey. Hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday. For information or to make an appointment, call 647-2422 and ask for the auto advisor.

NOTHING CAN be simpler than buying a car through the Monterey Federal Credit Union's Autoland Center. Virtually everything, from choosing a vehicle, financing and delivery, is done under one roof. The MFCU Autoland is located at the corner of Franklin and Figueroa in Monterey. (Wei Chang photo.)

AUTO GUIDE 90

VERY MUCH at home on the twisting roadways and soaring hillsides of the Monterey Peninsula is the new Jaguar XJ-S convertible. A classic sports car built for two, it envelops driver and passenger in luxury while performing

XJ-S Jaguar returns style, power to driving

By ANNE PAPINEAU

A new love have I. British-bred, it takes to the steep hills and curving roadways of the Monterey Bay Area like a peninsula native.

My glamorous friend is the new XJ-S Jaguar convertible. It was mine for a relatively brief time — a few days — but nonetheless this car left an indelible and very pleasant memory.

"Enjoy" was in the eyes of George Mahi, general manager of Monterey Jaguar Rolls-Royce Ferrari, as he handed over the keys to the scarlet roadster.

The XJ-S is the newest generation in a family of noteworthy Jaguars. It assumes the sporty mantle launched by the SS100 in the mid-1930s. Successors included the Jaguars XK120 and the XKE, classics all.

The 1990 XJ-S is indeed sporty, but it boasts elegant, and distinctively British good looks. Rather than appearing stripped-down "high tech," the XJ-S has enough luxurious amenities to keep James Bond, and me, very happy.

It's a classic sports car built for two, and it pampers driver and passenger. Even with the top down, a hint of fragrance lingers from the soft, beige leather that cradles those lucky enough to ride in this very civilized car. Polished burlwood fronts the cockpit and curls along both doors.

The complement of gauges is impressive but comprehensible. The XJ-S Jaguar is literally easy to drive, because the engineers have thought through everything for you, from electrically adjustable lumbar supports in the seats to a seven-function trip computer.

The hood is long, low, and polished to a mirror-like sheen. Purring beneath it is a 12-cylinder engine of startling smoothness. Challenges that might plague a lesser car, such as entering a busy roadway from a stop, or climbing a cork-twister driveway, are child's play to the XJ-S. It's the ideal vehicle for cruising Carmel's Scenic Drive with the top down, and then scurrying up steep Ocean Avenue to merge with Highway 1.

It's an automobile that exploits to the full the mystique of a classic sports car.

"Convertibles permit you to experience your environment," observes Mahi. "Carmel, for example, has a high-density, almost fairytale feeling. Going through the trees, the shadows, seeing the quaintness of the architecture, you just can't experience it with a roof over you."

And the roof of the XJ-S convertible lowers or pops back into place in a matter of seconds. It's power operated, and the driver remains comfortably seated.

The Jaguar engineers have also built numerous safety features into this eminently nimble and powerful car. There is a driver-side air bag, four-wheel disc brakes, rack and pinion power-assisted steering, and much more.

And to further add to your peace of mind, Jaguar's Service-On-Site program will provide free emergency roadside assistance should your Jaguar become disabled due to a warranty-covered defect, flat tire, dead battery or ... if it simply runs out of gas.

The 1990 list price for the Jaguar XJ-S convertible is $57,900. And only 2,500 are built each year.

It's a driving experience available to a select few, and it's great fun.

Tiffany's Body Shop provides expert service

Combining quality and state-of-the-art technology, Tiffany's Body Shop has been providing the finest in craftsmanship for the past eight years.

In addition to its new 8-by-12-foot signs, which make the shop easy to locate from Highway 101, Tiffany's has also upgraded its computer system.

The installation of a CD laser drive to its computer system allows quicker appraisal, not to mention providing the ability to accurately match paint colors.

Tiffany's guarantees its colors matches and quality to be identical to the factory's.

Paint is applied in two down-draft bake ovens, which gives cars an even, high-gloss finish by forcing air from the ceiling around the car and out the floor, avoiding any dirt in the paint.

Rental cars are available, as is a facsimile machine to help expedite claim information.

Tiffany's is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and is located at 248 Merced St. in Salinas. Phone 758-5110.

AN UPGRADED computer system permits the team at Tiffany's Body Shop to precisely match automotive paint colors to the factory specifications. Call on Ramon Castillo, manager (left); Vickie Oney (center) or Greg Oney, the owners, the state-of-the-art service. Rental cars are also available at Tiffany's Body Shop, as is a facsimile machine to help expedite claim information. The shop is at 248 Merced St. in Salinas. (Wei Chang photo).

WHY SO MANY VOLVOS WILL LIVE TO BE A MILLION.

For almost any car, 100,000 miles is a lot. But, 1,000,000? Astonishing as it seems, many a Volvo is purring along toward that awe-inspiring mileage. Why do Volvos perform so well, so long?

There are two reasons. First: Volvos are very well built to begin with. Second: Volvo owners know enough to insist their cars get regular service from an authorized Volvo dealer.*

Authorized Volvo dealers are better equipped to service Volvos of any vintage. They have factory-trained mechanics, Volvo diagnostic equipment, special Volvo tools and a direct pipeline to Sweden for the latest technical information. It all adds up. And what it adds up to is hundreds and hundreds of thousands of miles of trouble-free and very safe motoring.

When a Volvo is all Volvo, it works better longer. And retains more of its value, should you decide to sell it. That's why it pays to insist on genuine Volvo parts from an authorized Volvo dealer. Because your Volvo, too, could live to be a million.
